

THE GIANTS WON THE OPENING GAME

MONSTER CROWD IN ATTENDANCE

THE LINEUP.

New York.
Philadelphia.
Umpires.
Klem and Brennan, of the National League; Connelley and Dineen, of the American League.

Polo Grounds, N. Y., Oct. 14.—The Giants took the lead in the world's champion contest here this afternoon, taking the initial contest. A pitchers' battle between Mathewson and Bender was the feature. The contest was from start to finish a pitcher's duel between premier slabs of rival leagues, and while the Indian was hit oftener than the peerless Matty, the latter's arm held up better in the finishing rounds, and this, coupled with a timely pitch hit by Devore in the seventh inning, gave the National leaguers the one run necessary to clinch the game.

Polo Grounds, N. Y., Oct. 14.—The scene within the Polo ball park as the first game between the New York National and the Philadelphia Athletics in the world's series began was one of intense animation.

Vast multitudes occupied every available seat in the park and filled the windows and house tops nearby. Crowds were still streaming in the gates as the players took their places on the diamond. A feeling of intense expectancy and excitement prevailed before the game, but a calm fell over the vast crowd as the players took their positions, which was punctuated now and then by cheers when some favorite player made his appearance.

The crowd is estimated at 50,000, and will probably reach 60,000 before the game is over.

Thousands Out To See Game.

(By Associated Press.)
New York, Oct. 14.—New York Nationals against Philadelphia Americans was the simple but magnetic legend that drew tens of thousands to the Polo ball park to witness the opening game between the pennant winners of 1911. Many persons camped all night long at the Polo grounds, in order to get the coveted bleacher seats that were put on sale this morning. Speculators who had secured choice seats reported a rich harvest and fabulous prices were paid for seats in the grandstand.

Early morning talk had Mathewson for New York and Bender for Philadelphia, as the pitchers for the game today.
Mathewson's men were the favorites in the betting, the odds being 10 to 10.

With fine weather, there was no indication that the ideal day for the game would bring out a monster crowd.
At 12 o'clock 250 men were in the grandstand, the all-night campers. Two hundred police were on duty to preserve order.
Mathewson and Marquard, upon whom the manager has placed his faith, were in fine shape, and said that they were both to work on alternate days today.

(By United Press.)
New York, Oct. 14.—The Athletics will enter the world's series today slightly crippled.

Sixth Inning.
Philadelphia—Baker cracked a beauty to middle, but Murphy fielded to Snodgrass. Baker was tipped a block when he tried to steal. Davis succumbed. Herzog to Merkle.
New York—Snodgrass again got in the way of Bender's bendover and his rap in the slats was good for a base. Murray sacrificed and Snodgrass stole third gleefully. Baker was badly cut by Snodgrass' spikes, but stuck to his post. Merkle fanned. Herzog walked, but on an attempted double steal, Snodgrass died at the plate on Collins' beautiful relay of Thomas' toss.

Seventh Inning.
Philadelphia—Baker whiffed for the second time and Thomas skied to Snodgrass. Fletcher handled Bender's roller perfectly and the red man died at first.
New York—Fletcher rolled to Davis. When Indian met Indian in this frame, the Big Chief of the Giant tribe triumphed, for his double sailed far over Oldring's head. Matty fanned, but little loss Devore cracked one out for two sacks and Meyers registered at the plate, while the fans held a genuine pose wow in the stand. Snodgrass whiffed again.

Eighth Inning.
Philadelphia—Lord fanned, and Oldring latted to Devore. Collins was a pipe. Matty to Merkle.
New York—Murray aeroplaned to Lord and by fast sprinting, Merkle converted his hunt into a single. Herzog fanned and Fletcher tied to Murphy.

Ninth Inning.
Philadelphia—Baker grounded to Merkle unassisted. Murphy's high foul was captured by Meyers and Davis brought joy to the 20,000 fans by rolling to Fletcher.

Two Base Hits—Herzog, Meyers, Oldring 2. Sacrifice Hits—Murray, Murphy. Stolen Bases—Doyle, Snodgrass. First Base on Balls—Mathewson, 1; Bender, 3. Hit by Pitcher—Snodgrass 2. Struck Out—Mathewson, 5; Bender, 11. Passed Balls—Meyers.

Third Inning.
Philadelphia—Matty, clinched out of a pretty deep hole in this stanza. After Bender was tossed out by Mathewson, Lord lofted to Murray. Oldring picked a double jointed swipe to middle and Collins walked. Baker, anxious as a gallery kid, fanned as easy as pie.

New York—Meyers aeroplaned to Oldring. Matty, cheered to the echo, got Bender in the three-two hole, and then the Indian almost scalped Big Six with a fast one. Matty hit and sat down. Devore walked, Bender's first gift. Doyle then skied to Lord.

Fourth Inning.
Philadelphia—Murphy's foul fell in Meyers' lap, who smothered it with fondness. Davis rolled one to Fletcher, and was checked out at first. Barry leaped the loop to Fletcher.

New York—Snodgrass was hit in the short ribs by one of Bender's twisters, but smiled to first with a smile on his lips—didn't hurt him at all. Murray was restored on a very clever assist on the part of Collins, and Merkle, the one time home-head, whiffed like a school marm. Herzog, however, electrified the crowd by driving one right through Collins' that went for a double and Snodgrass came home with the fans screaming like mad. Fletcher showed his class as a batter by again beating the breezes.

Fifth Inning.
Philadelphia—Thomas singled to Devore, but Bender belted one for a cross country single, only to be forced when Lord's roller fell into the hands of Merkle. It is a good thing, for Oldring drove out his second double of the game. The hit was not long enough to permit Lord to score. Collins succumbed on a punk rap to Merkle.

New York—Meyers was retired, Collins to Davis. Matty singled, but Devore fanned. Doyle was out. Mr. Carroll has six children.

WHEN A MAN'S MARRIED

JUSTICE HARLAN DIED EARLY ON SATURDAY

(By United Press.)
Washington, October 14.—Associate Justice John Marshall Harlan, senior member of the United States supreme court, aged 78 years, died at his home here at 8:45 this morning following a brief illness of bronchitis, which developed after complications.

He sat on the bench when the October term of court opened on Monday but on Tuesday he was confined to his home with a cold which gradually grew worse. The aged jurist won extraordinary fame last spring when he dissented from the remainder of the highest court in the Standard Oil and Tobacco trust cases. He then asserted that his associates were amending the law by reading the word "reasonable" into the Sherman anti-trust law. Harlan served 34 years on the bench, which, with one exception is the longest period held by any judge.

The death of Justice Harlan gives President Taft the duty of selecting his fifth appointee to the supreme bench which will make a majority of its members chosen by him.

Justice Harlan was born in Boyle county, Kentucky, and served in the Civil War under General Thomas. The jurist passed away in a peaceful sleep. He was comparatively poor in the matter of money but a multi-millionaire in honor and esteem.

A spectacular parade in which military and naval crews joined was a feature of the celebration. As the President pulled a flag to the top of a great pole, the national salute of 21 guns was fired, and it was echoed and re-echoed by the guns of the forts and fleet.

Columbus, O., Oct. 14.—Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of Ohio State University will be in Chicago Monday to invite Senators La Follette of Wisconsin and Clapp of Minnesota to come to Ohio to make speeches in favor of a progressive constitution.
Dr. Thompson was selected to extend the invitation at a meeting of the United Constitution Committee held here today.

PEKIN IN DANGER

(By United Press.)
Tokio, China, October 14.—Pekin is in imminent danger of attack by the revolutionists and three divisions of the Manchurian army are being mobilized here today. So widespread is the dissatisfaction in the army, however, that the troops are expected to desert to the rebels as soon as the latter appeared.

JOHN R. WALSH GIVEN A PAROLE

(By Associated Press.)
Leavenworth, Kansas, Oct. 11.—After serving one year, eight months and 26 days in the Federal penitentiary here, John R. Walsh, ex-convict of the United States district court at Chicago, was granted parole today. Walsh was received by the prison clipping bureau. He will go to Chicago tonight.

MACHINE LAW AFFECTS THE M'NAMARA JURY

(By United Press.)
Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 14.—That a political amendment forced through the legislature of California for the benefit of a railroad machine which for years controlled the destinies of this state will prove an enormous factor in the make up of the jury which will pass on the guilt or innocence of James E. McNamara is admitted by both sides in the case today.
The common law says that a person having an opinion which would require evidence to remove is not qualified to serve on a jury. The amendment provides that when a man admitted an opinion and also said that he was willing to waive such an opinion he was qualified for jury service. This is the situation which the prisoner is facing today and is the point over which the prosecution and defense are wrangling. The arguments were brought forth by the attempt of the defense to eliminate C. T. Nelson from the list of prospective jury men.

MEXICAN DISASTER IS WORSE THAN REPORTED

(By United Press.)
Mexico City, Oct. 14.—To the deaths and damage from the tidal wave and hurricane which devastated 250 miles of the coast of Sonora is now added the fear that few of the relief trains sent out have reached their destination owing to the activity of natives.

When word of the disaster first reached the governor of the state relief trains were immediately sent out but were marooned. Reports now drifting in from the stricken country said that only a small percentage of these arrived. Troops are being sent with every train today.

The latest reports from the worst coast state that the loss of life and property damage are even greater than was at first reported.

London, Eng., Oct. 11.—The whole interest in the Turkish-Balkan war has shifted to Constantinople today. Everything depends on the internal struggle that is being waged in Turkey and re-

The opening of the Turkish parliament today will be the first chance to gauge the strength of the young Turks, the war party. If they are as strong as they claim there is little doubt they will be able to force the resignation of the Sultan.
In the meantime the danger of hostilities spreading from Tripoli was reawakened by the semi-official statements from Rome and Italy will attack Smyrna and Salonica if Italians are molested in Syria.

THE W. C. T. U. CONVENTION COMES TO CLOSE

Delegates Depart W. C. T. U. ADOPTS ITS RESOLUTIONS

Just as the hands of the clock pointed to twenty minutes after six o'clock Friday evening, Miss Frances Hazelton Esqna, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Ohio, declared the thirty-eighth annual convention closed.

The closing hours of the convention were impressive. Mrs. Rebecca Trego, one of the well known evangelists in the state, was called to the platform, and as the hundreds of delegates clasped hands throughout the big church, Mrs. Effie L. Berthoff led the song, "Blest Be the Tie that Binds." Mrs. Trego closed the convention with a beautiful prayer.

The closing day of the convention was filled with important work. The program could not be carried out in full and many of the superintendents did not report to the convention, but handed their statements to the secretary to be recorded in the state minutes.

Saturday morning saw over two hundred delegates leaving on one train, the N. & W., for Columbus, from which point they will return to their homes.

The convention was one of the largest and most successful ever held by the W. C. T. U.

Among the resolutions adopted were:

Since moderate and social drinking imperil both the individual and the nation, we therefore reaffirm our loyalty to the principle of total abstinence, and urge greater effort to secure total abstinence.

Prohibition
We believe in prohibition enacted into law as the only means of deliverance from the liquor traffic and that the time has come when Ohio should crown the splendid local option victories of the past by the enactment of constitutional prohibition.

We therefore urge our approaching constitutional convention to submit to the voters of the state, an amendment providing for the State Wide prohibition of the liquor traffic.

We protest against the effort being made by the liquor interests to please high license in Ohio's new constitution. We affirm that the voters of Ohio should not be confused or deceived by having submitted to them the question of license or the prohibition of license, but rather the true alternative issues of license or prohibition.

We condemn the license system as morally wrong and legally indefensible.

That the ballot may be an element of good citizenship, we believe that suffrage should be based upon intelligence, and not upon sex; that the woman's vote would give the home two votes instead of one, and would be a powerful feature in abolishing the liquor traffic, and in protecting the best interests of womanhood, childhood and home, and should become part of our organic law, we therefore favor the submission to the voters of our state by the approaching constitutional convention, of a clause in the new constitution providing for the enfranchisement of Ohio's women.

We favor arbitration as the Christian method for the settlement of all difficulties between nations and between individuals. Realizing that "sacrifice is the victory spirit," we record our appreciation of the great insights given the cause of temperance in general and law enforcement in particular by the heroic attitude of Mrs. Carrie Nation whose name will go down in history as the John Brown of the temperance cause.

We request the reading of the Bible in the public schools.

We urge every temperance and Christian voter to vote against every candidate for delegate to the constitutional convention who is pledged to this unfair un-American deceptive proposition which is outlined in the constitutional convention law.

A salient nation before the fourth of July, 1920.

We ask of Congress the enactment of a law prohibiting interstate commerce in intoxicating liquors, and favor the passage of the Miller-Curtis interstate liquor bill, which will give to each state full control over liquor shipments from the time they enter the boundaries of the state.

We protest against the action of the United States government in giving official recognition to the Brewers' Congress by sending Secretary Wilson and four experts of the Department of Agriculture to the Congress to be held in Chicago beginning October 12.

Mrs. Lulu Gleason.
Mrs. J. H. McElhinny.

Among the delegates at large appointed were Mrs. Mary Brown of Zanesville; Mrs. Henry Sinden of Springfield; Ada Miller, of Springfield; Mrs. M. E. Phillips and Mrs. E. J. Pinner, of Cleveland; Ada Harriott, Mrs. Pauline, of Jamestown; Miss Sackett of Amherst; Miss Anna Patterson; Mrs. N. L. Gebhardt, of Marion; Jessie Gibson, of Bellefontaine, and Clara Padgett, of Wilmington.

Two invitations were extended to the convention for the meeting next year. One from Lima, and the second from East Liverpool. It was left for the general officers to make the selection later in the year.

The wording of the constitution took up a great deal of time during the closing hours. At the convention held last year Mrs. Weyer, to change by-law No. 20. The changes made gives the final power of balloting on officers for superintendents, organizers and lecturers to an executive body instead of an advisory committee. The changes were adopted.

Another change was made in the constitution which provides for a vice-president in the county and local unions.

Mrs. N. Lakose Gebhardt, of Marion, was made superintendent of a department of Scientific Temperance Instruction, in place of Mrs. Jewett, who was selected at the last meeting Friday morning. Mrs. Gebhardt is at present a member of the head of city examiners at Marion and for 16 years she was principal of the high school there.

Mrs. J. Frank Smith, superintendent of the department of Scientific Temperance Instruction, awarded the prizes to the city teacher and college teacher who had done the best work in this department.

The Knox county delegation made Mrs. Cora Farquhar a life member of the W. C. T. U. Thursday by presenting $10 to the state treasurer.

Mr. Lornia C. Springer, of Mercer county sent $10 to the convention yesterday making his wife a life member.

Anderson Martin Cook, of Galena street, delighted the ladies Thursday afternoon with two splendid recitations.

THE DRYS WIN!

Two Great Temperance Meetings at the Tabernacle Sunday

At the afternoon meeting, which will begin promptly at 1:30 o'clock, addresses will be made by John B. Lennon, Treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, and Hon. B. F. McDonald, one of the leading attorneys at the Newark Bar. Every working man in Portsmouth should hear Mr. Lennon. He is one of the great labor leaders of the country and will discuss the saloon and its relation to organized labor. Mr. McDonald, one of the well known Modern Woodmen of Ohio, will tell the story of the lynching of Carl Etherington at Newark and the causes which led up to it.

B. F. McDONALD.

Mr. McDonald is a member of the Law and Order League of Newark and at the time the mob had possession of the city had to leave town for his own safety. He will thrill Portsmouth with his address for he is a captivating speaker.

Judge Blair in the Evening

Tomorrow evening Judge Blair will speak at the tabernacle and if you want a seat you will have to go early. The Judge will reply to the wet orators who have come to Portsmouth in the interest of the liquor trust. Give him a rousing reception.

A GREAT ADDRESS BY W. C. T. U. LEADER

If the sporting editor had been given the assignment at the Tabernacle Friday evening, he would probably say that the W. C. T. U. people made a "hot finish." Anyway, it certainly was a grand finish judging from the splendid doings.

The great structure was well filled with as pretty an audience as you will see in a month's travel. There were flowers and plants, and children and grown-ups, beautifully gowned women, boys and girls bubbling over with joyousness, and men on their good behavior, many of them for the first time realizing how unnecessary they were in the world, and how small a figure they cut when the so-called weaker sex take it into their head to do things. The platform, speakers' table, and even the reporters' desks were swamped with flowers and rare plants. The "white ribbon" of the W. C. T. U. was gracefully canopied over the front of the platform, with pleasing effect.

The school children were there, a glorious bunch, well trained, dressed and carrying small flags, and making more noise in the preliminary stages than fourteen N. & W. "double-headers" crossing Mount Run bridge. They occupied the chorus seats, in glittering ranks, rising tier above tier to the roof of the building. And how they did sing the catchy songs of the dry campaign, led by the orchestra of Trinity church and Chorister Weaver. Right here is a good place to remark that Trinity orchestra, under the leadership of its talented young leader and organizer, Miss Alice M. Blake, is entitled to special praise, being on duty every night at the tabernacle, their services being a free-will offering.

There was something doing every minute of the time. Little Alma Davis sang a solo beautifully, and little Beatrice Evans recited delightfully. And that little "Cocky Kid," Martin Cook's marvellous second-year-old phenomenon of the dry campaign, recited as only he can recite, unembarrassed, and dressed in mannish white. He was escorted and presented with a bouquet of rare roses by the ladies. He bowed and kissed his tiny hand to the ladies in charming school boy style.

The "L. T. L." the youthful auxiliary of the W. C. T. U., under the leadership of the same secretary, gave a little of the program, including the "beige" drill, in which they demonstrated the fact that the college boys and girls have not said the last word in the matter of yelling.

"L. T. L." means "Ladies' Temperance League," and the state secretary of the league is Miss Mary Ervin, a winsome young lady from Green county.

When Shakespeare, or whoever it was that didn't know what he was talking about, said "Youth must be served," had been present last night he would have felt moved to revise his alleged expression.

Ohio's glorious womanhood was bunched on the platform, right, left and center, and almost without exception they were women in whose hair shone the white hair of middle-age and beyond, and practically all the leaders were women whose heads were glorious crowns of snowy white. But they were strong of body and spiritual of face.

The meeting was in charge of Mrs. Emma Townsend, of Wilmington.

When prayer was offered, only the superintendents, bunched on the right of the platform, were requested to stand.

The speaker of the evening was Mrs. Edith Smith Davis, national superintendent of the branch of scientific temperance investigation.

Mrs. Davis is a lady of fine presence, being richly gowned in pure white, with a glorious head of snow white hair and a face brilliantly spiritual and somewhat sunken-worn. Her voice was perfection and her intonation faultless. She impressed one as not being physically strong enough for the work she is doing, but her voice and manner gave no indication of any such handicap.

Her address was partly along scientific lines, largely based on the Bible and with many scriptural quotations and references. "Man is of trifling value," she said, "will be trampled by the hoofs of God's wrath. Truth must be expressed. When God's spirit comes upon man to realize the power that is in him, it is incarnated upon him to express that truth, no matter in what form the vision comes. It may be as an Edison to chain the lightning, an Angelo or a Wren to conceive a St. Peter's or a St. Paul's, or a Burian to produce a spider-like cat, a thousand rose or an endless onion. God's chief desire is to produce a man and a woman. True man had come to look upon woman as superfluous and excess baggage, but not so in God's plan. Woman will have her day, as she already has her day. Woman's mission is to shed light in the world.

Frances Willard gave her light and her life to the world. Her spirit is moving on, and is abroad in this tabernacle tonight. Edgar Allan Poe, rarely gifted, lost his light and his life, having first lost the vision. She quoted splendidly from Poe, and held him up as an appalling example of what the demon rum can do to a genius who fails to keep his light shining. Other examples were Byron, Burns, Keats and Shelley, men who have glorified our language, but who permitted their lights to go out in unexplained darkness. They lost the divine vision.

Leaving the poets, she went to the field of politics and statesmanship, and cited Webster and other men of genius whose light was dimmed by the hand of rum. She spoke of the slums, and told how children are born drunkards and idiots, through the drink habit of parents.

In speaking of the physiological phase of drunkenness, she said children were pre-naturally consigned, frequently, to lives of alcoholic excess. She said the first organ formed in the unborn child was the heart, and the bundle of nerves at the base of the brain, controlling the heart's action, was the beginning of the brain and nervous system. Then came the intermediate area, and last, and highest, of all, was the spiritual, moral and intellectual area. This area, she said, was the first to be attacked by alcohol, then the intermediate area, and lastly the basic heart, nerves were involved and life in many cases went out.

Her address was of interest to all and listened to attentively.

There were other brief addresses and more singing.

Everyone was delighted when Mrs. Florence Richards came and sang upon the platform. Mrs. Richards had her voice with her, and all who have heard her speak know what that means. Her speech was characteristic.

NOTES

Mrs. Lulu Shepherd, of Train, who delivered an address at the Tabernacle Wednesday, has consented to remain in the city until next Wednesday, making special time for the drys. From here she will go to London to remain until Sunday and then she will go to Columbus next Sunday night to address a big suffragette meeting.

The Knox county delegation made Mrs. Cora Farquhar a life member of the W. C. T. U. Thursday by presenting $10 to the state treasurer.

Mr. Lornia C. Springer, of Mercer county sent $10 to the convention yesterday making his wife a life member.

Anderson Martin Cook, of Galena street, delighted the ladies Thursday afternoon with two splendid recitations.

Mrs. Lulu Gleason, of Marion, was made superintendent of a department of Scientific Temperance Instruction, in place of Mrs. Jewett, who was selected at the last meeting Friday morning. Mrs. Gebhardt is at present a member of the head of city examiners at Marion and for 16 years she was principal of the high school there.

Mrs. J. Frank Smith, superintendent of the department of Scientific Temperance Instruction, awarded the prizes to the city teacher and college teacher who had done the best work in this department.

THANKED THE TIMES

Mrs. Florence Richards took occasion to apologize for the oversight by which mention of the Times was left out of the resolutions of thanks to Portsmouth, her citizens, her churches and the press. She said she voiced the sentiments of the convention when she said they had the highest opinion of the Times and appreciated the splendid manner the paper had covered the meeting. It was a mistake, pure and simple, she said, and the resolutions would be corrected before final recording.

WOODMAN MEETING A GRAND SUCCESS

One of the largest and most delightful social meetings of the season was held at Keuffel's hall Friday evening, the occasion being the annual banquet and the first of a series of entertainments to be given under the auspices of Portsmouth camp No. 3993, Modern Woodmen of America.

A spirit of good cheer and fellowship pervaded throughout the evening among the crowd of members of the splendid organization and their ladies to the number of more than 500.

An exceedingly interesting program prepared by Harry Huddleson, chairman of the committee on arrangements, was rendered and all the numbers drew rounds of applause.

One of the big features of the program was the exhibition drill given by the crack degree team of the local lodge under the command of Captain Harry H. Harmon. This is the same team which gave such lively competition at the national convention of the order at Buffalo this summer, resulting in their gaining much favorable comment throughout the country. The team was put through its paces last night and the exhibition was immensely enjoyed by all. They certainly make a fine showing in their native uniforms.

Neighbor William Lindsey, venerable consul of the camp, presided as chairman, and in his opening remarks stated that the object of the series of entertainments just starting was to increase interest in the work of the order and sound the slogan "to get better acquainted."

Assistant State Deputy B. B. Beck, of Thornville, in a neat five-minute talk, stated it was a pleasure for him to be with "the powers behind the throne," and concluding, commended Portsmouth on the large camp maintained here, it being the largest in his district.

He was followed by the speaker of the evening, B. P. McDonald, state lecturer, and one of the leading orators of Woodcraft, not only in Ohio, but in the nation. Mr. McDonald is a leading attorney of Newark, Ohio, and he at once launched into his address in which he sounded the keynote of the principles of fraternal societies and especially the Modern Woodmen of America. He emphasized the fact that it was not the rich or the very poor which comprised the great armies of secret societies, but the middle classes of the masses and added that the backbone of America is the American home.

The speaker recalled revolution days and said they gave rare opportunities of an exhibit of man's moral courage and devotion to his country, and he declared the men were as good and brave today.

Preservation of the home is one of the principles of this great order, and he proclaimed the M. W. A. organization a most patriotic one.

"We are proud of what we have accomplished to relieve distress and bring about a feeling of brotherly love, and we are not only proud of what we have done, but we cherish even greater things for the future."

Mr. McDonald then called attention to the great "Life Saving Station" maintained by the M. W. A. in Colorado, where the arch-enemy of all mankind, the dread, white plague, was being successfully combated, and from the sanatorium in the last twelve months 170 men had been returned to their homes with prospects of future happiness when a few months before it seemed certain each would be claimed by the terrible disease.

The speaker claimed that the M. W. A. is the greatest fraternal organization in the world today, with its army of 1,200,000 members, as well as the greatest fraternal insurance order. The order insurance got started right and that's the reason it is a success, and because it is conducted on a safe and sane basis as any other. He closed with an appeal for recruits to the ranks of the order, and he was cheered to an echo.

Other interesting numbers on the program were solos by Miss Eva Hunt and Miss Marjorie Gerlach, a recitation by Master Anderson Cook, an exhibition in magic and sleight of hand by Neighbor Virgil Jones.

At the conclusion of the program a social session preceded dancing, during which refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

FROM THE DRY CAMP

The wet managers can now come out of hiding: the W. C. T. U. convention is over.

Remember the two great labor-made meetings Sunday—John B. Lennon, Treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, and Hon. B. E. McDonald, of Newark, in the afternoon and Judge Blair in the evening.

You will miss one of the treats of your life if you fail to hear Mrs. Lulu Sheppard this evening at the corner of Fifth and Chillicothe Streets. Mrs. Sheppard is the head of the Irish W. C. T. U. and is the peer of any public speaker in the country, man or woman.

There is a broad grin all over Scioto County because of the manner the women of the W. C. T. U. took the wind out of the sails of the wet managers. Their courage, cooed out of their finger tips when they thought of putting their impertinent paid speakers against the clever women who are dead in earnest in their fight against the saloon. Mrs. Sheppard, Mrs. Richards, Miss Ensign, or any of a dozen others would have made these advocates of the booze joint look like thirteen cents within fifteen minutes.

A brilliant huge poster has been distributed about town by the wet managers. It is an item from the Times of October 7th, concerning an alleged drunken revelry engaged in by a number of boys of tender years. This incident is supposed to have occurred September 17th at a brick yard in the East End. The same item was offered the Blade on October 7th, but was not published, as there was reason to believe the story was "doctored" by the wets for a purpose. We do not believe the incident is true, as no names are given. If true, it is a safe bet the liquor was furnished the boys by some fellow who is now selling himself loose for the return of the open saloon.

The wet campaign managers are advising voters whose sympathies are against local option to remain away from the dry meetings. In their paid advertisements they warn these voters that if they attend the dry meetings and hear the temperance speakers they are likely to be insulted. These voters should ignore such advice. In a campaign, such as is being conducted in this city, and county, all voters should be fully informed as possible in order that they may cast their ballots intelligently. The drys are making no effort to keep temperance people away from the wet meetings. On the other hand, we most cordially invite wet voters to attend dry meetings. There is no danger that they will be insulted. This is simply an excuse framed up by the wet campaign managers, as they fear if wet voters go to dry meetings they may see the error of their way and vote dry. Every qualified voter of Scioto County should secure all the information possible on both sides of the question at issue. Let him sift this information and use his best judgment and from the standpoint of a good citizen let him cast an intelligent ballot. We earnestly urge all wet and doubtful voters to attend dry meetings as well as those conducted by the wets. It is not only your privilege but your duty to become fully informed on every phase of the issue involved.

The Rev. Mr. Meeker, of St. Louis, who made two speeches in Portsmouth, advocating the return of the saloon to Scioto County, is traveling under the auspices of the Model License League. We published yesterday what the ministers of St. Louis think of Mr. Meeker. Today we quote from the St. Louis Post Dispatch, of February 24, 1909, published the gift of a St. Louis brewer to Mr. Meeker's church. The question is, has Mr. Meeker sold himself to the wet cause for sufficient money to pay one-half his church debt? Here is what the Post Dispatch says:

Headlines—
Pastor Meeker gets $750 from Brewer Stifel. Money paid part of debt on Compton Hill Church. Gift was anonymous. Minister cashed check after agreeing to say nothing about it. Defends his course. Contributor says public not interested in his donations.

A check for $750 signed by Otto F. Stifel, president of the Union Brewery Company, in favor of the Rev. E. Meeker, Pastor Compton Hill Congregational Church, was cashed late in December, 1909. The money was paid to Mr. Meeker, on his endorsement and by him was turned over toward the payment of a $1500 church debt without the knowledge of the congregation.

Mr. Meeker said: "I agreed to say nothing about it, cashed the check and took the money to H. C. Freyer, then Treasurer of the church, who deposited it to the church's credit. I also told the trustees that I had received a gift of $750 for the church from a friend who desired to be anonymous. We were all very glad to get the money as it paid half our debt, etc."

What a delightful place these "safe and sane" saloons, which the wets are trying to bring back to Portsmouth, will be for your wife and daughter to spend their leisure evenings!

Come now, Mr. Sikes, Mr. Perkins, et al., answer this question: If you are successful in again establishing saloons in Portsmouth, would you advise your boys or the sons of your neighbors to patronize them? Do not equivocate, but answer "yes" or "no."

In wet advertisements and from wet campaign speakers, the people of Scioto County are hearing much these days about the "law-abiding, well regulated saloon." The "Bonzie Boosters" League managed by Chicago missionaries of the liquor trust, says the issue in this county is between the "law-abiding, well regulated" saloon and the speakeasy and boot-legger.

But who knows anything about the law-abiding, well regulated saloon? In all the years Portsmouth had open saloons it was unequipped with such an institution. Even Col. Perkins, head and front and general factorum of the wet campaign, publicly declared the saloons of Portsmouth were so bad three years ago no decent man could do otherwise than vote dry.

What guarantee can the wets give that if this County votes for saloons they will be any better than those voted out three years ago? The law-abiding, well regulated saloon is a myth for the simple reason that those who engage in such business have no regard for law and multiply every regulative measure. The brewers and wholesale liquor dealers could put the lawless saloons out of business if they would refuse to sell them goods, but you haven't heard of such refusal, have you? Why, the brewers have as great disregard for law as the lowest dive keeper. Did not the brewers of Cincinnati confess to robbing the city, county and state of tens of thousands of dollars of tax money? Are they not paying it back because the officials compel them to do so? Did they not bribe a county official in order to carry out their lawless scheme?

The saloons which the wet outfit is trying to get back into Scioto County will be as lawless and degraded as those you voted out three years ago. Bear this in mind. Any talk to the contrary is simply to deceive you. Do not be gold bricked. Vote against the saloons. THE SCIOTO COUNTY LOCAL OPTION LEAGUE.

Was A Hoodoo Day

Friday, the thirteenth, was verily a hoodoo day for Attorney Nute B. Gilliland. Early in the morning he went to see about replacing the morning paper coming to his window in one of his tented automobiles and in fooling around the window nearly cut one of his fingers off. Hereafter he expects to look himself up in his office when Friday the thirteenth rolls around.

EMBROIDERED COAT COLLAR AND CUFF

A charming addition to the coat or sailor cuff, is the embroidered collar and cuff. The scallop should be padded, and closely buttonholed. The leaves are worked solid, with the dots as eyelets, and the stems in the outline stitch. The dotted line indicates where the collar is sewed into the band. Recommended cotton No. 20 should be used.

DIRECTIONS FOR TRANSFERRING.

In taking off these patterns, lay a piece of impression paper upon the material, place the newspaper pattern over this, and with a hard, sharp pencil draw firmly over each line. If the material is sheer it may be laid over the pattern and drawn off with pencil, as the design will show through.

NO HEARTBURN, DYSPEPSIA OR SICK STOMACH

Nothing will remain undigested or sour on your stomach if you will take a little Diapiesin occasionally. This powerful digestive and antacid, though as harmless and pleasant as candy, will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you can eat.

Est what your stomach craves, without the slightest fear of indigestion or that you will be bothered with sour risings. Holding One on Stomach, Heartburn, Headaches from stomach, Nausea, Bad Breath, Water Brash or a feeling like you had swallowed a lump of lead, or other disagreeable miseries. Should you be suffering now from any stomach disorder you can get relief within five minutes.

If you will get from your pharmacist a 50-cent case of Pappe's Diapiesin, you could always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and your meals would taste good, because you would know there would be no indigestion or Sleepless nights or Headaches or Stomach misery all the next day; and, besides, you would not need laxatives or liver pills to keep your stomach and bowels clean and fresh.

Pappe's Diapiesin can be obtained from your druggist, and contains more than sufficient to thoroughly cure the worst case of indigestion or Dyspepsia. There is nothing better for Gas on the Stomach or sour odors from the stomach or to cure a Stomach Headache. You couldn't keep a handkerchief or more useful article in the house.

HOW ONE WOMAN WON

Her Health and Strength Back Again by The Use of Cardui.

Tampa, Fla.—In a letter from this city, Mrs. E. C. Cornum writes: "I was all weakened and worn out with womanly troubles. My husband brought me some Cardui as a tonic, and, from the first day, it seemed to help. I had almost lost my reason, but, thanks to Cardui, I did not. Soon, I felt and looked like a new woman. I think the remedy is wonderful. I recommended it to my friends, for I have received great benefit from it."

Cardui acts specifically on the weakened womanly organs, strengthening the muscles and nerves, and building them up to health. It helps to refresh the worn-out nervous system and relieves the effects of overwork, both mental and physical. Fifty years' successful use fully prove the merit of this purely vegetable, taste remedy for women.

In every community, there live some who have been benefited by Cardui. The beneficial effects of this time tested woman's remedy, soon show themselves in many different ways. Try it.

Sackett, assisted by Miss Moots, of Cleveland; displayed some English posters, gotten out by the English Suffrage League.

Among the organizers and superintendents who gave splendid reports Friday were Mrs. Mary Westlake, Mrs. Della Harriek and Mrs. Mattie Slater, Rev. Anna Sheldon, Mrs. Lucy Mankirk, Mrs. H. A. Reese, Mrs. Rebecca Trugo.

With the exception of the superintendent of Scientific Temperance Instruction, who will get $30, there was no change made in the salaries of the superintendents, who will receive $10. The colored worker will receive $15. No change was made in the officers' salaries. A proposition was made to build headquarters at Columbus. The state headquarters are now located at Madison, Lake county.

The receipts from the Diamond Medal Contest entertainment, Thursday, amounted to $127.33, expenses $36.50. Total receipts $71.45.

As the Franklin county delegation wished to leave Friday afternoon, the state treasurer presented the county president, Mrs. H. B. Vaukirk, with the banner, which represents the largest paying county in the state. Mrs. Vaukirk was given a handsome ebony gavel.

Mrs. Lala Shepherd, of Utah, announced Friday that she would remain in the state of Ohio until Christmas.

Mrs. Viola D. Romans is proud of her young daughter, Mrs. Blanch Romans McVey, who is attending the convention and is the youngest local president of the W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Carrie Flatter at the morning session told the convention that they should be warned of the threat of the whiskey interests of the state, who were determined to place men on school boards who would oppose the books on Scientific Temperance Instruction being placed in the schools.

Mrs. Florence Richards in behalf of Trumbull county, presented Mrs. Mattie Slater, their beloved president, with a handsome signal ring.

Mr. T. Shannon, of the International Purity Association, was present at the morning session and talked a short time to the convention. Mr. Shannon announced that he would deliver his lecture in this state if desired by any of the departments of the W. C. T. U. He has recently returned from a 4,000 mile lecture tour.

Green county made Mrs. Carrie Flatter a life member of the W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Lydia M. Rowe presented the name of Mrs. M. W. Brown, of the East Portsmouth union, as a life member. Mrs. Brown sending the $10 to the convention.

Executive Committee Meets.
At a meeting of the executive committee held at the noon hour Friday, it was recommended that the superintendents receive the same salary as last year, $10. The officers' salary to remain the same.

New Elections.
The following new elections were made Friday:

Mrs. Ida Van Dabor, Mrs. J. L. Guthrie and Mrs. E. J. Patterson, organizers; house to house workers, Mrs. Harriet K. Price, colored, Mrs. Josephine Allen, colored, Mrs. Henry Linden, colored, and Mrs. Mary Jennings.

The following organizers and house to house workers will not be connected with the department this year: Mrs. Helen S. Burns, of Columbus; Mrs. Belle O. Brown, of Mt. Pleasant; Miss Ida K. Wedrig, of Cincinnati; Mrs. Idell Miller, of Canal Dover.

These new elections were adopted by the convention.

Marion county received three banners this year. Their county made the greatest gain in membership, 340.

A colored Loyal Temperance Legion was formed in Portsmouth during the convention, with a membership of 90, and in charge of Miss Anderson, one of the colored school teachers.

Mrs. Jennie Smith, of the White Ribbon Recruits, pinned the W. C. T. U. emblem on three little babies, Elizabeth Adams and Sarah Barber, from Scioto, and Martha Hulet, of Paulding county.

District Superintendent Eldridge, of the Anti-Saloon League, spoke to the convention Friday afternoon and in very strong words came out in favor of woman's suffrage.

DELEGATES TOOK ILL

Factically every physician was busy Friday waiting on about two hundred of the W. C. T. U. delegates who were made ill by something eaten Thursday. A number of the ladies were very ill Thursday night, and physicians were hurriedly called to a number of the homes throughout the city.

The victims are at a loss to know what they ate that could have caused ptomaine poisoning.

ELKS INITIATE A SPLENDID CLASS

One of the finest classes ever ordered, including all of the newly taken in by Portsmouth Lodge No. 134, B. P. O. E., learned the mysteries of the order Friday evening. Initiation ceremonies started early in the evening, and with the famous Elk went in splendid style, the candidates learned rapidly the mysteries of Elkdom.

At the close of the initiation a fine banquet was served by Caterer Seel, following which toasts were given by various members of the lodge.

HEALTHY MOTHERS

Women who bear children and remain healthy are those who prepare their systems in advance of baby's coming. Unless the mother aids nature in its pre-natal work the crisis finds her system unequal to the demands made upon it, and she is often left with weakened health or chronic ailments. No remedy is so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend, and no expectant mother should fail to use it. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant and elastic those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding, prevents numbness of limbs and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. The system being thus prepared by Mother's Friend dispels the fear that the crisis may not be safely met. Mother's Friend assures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother, and she is left a healthy woman to enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

May Re-Number All Houses In The City

The urgent need of a new house numbering system in Portsmouth, chiefly because of new territory annexed to the city, was strongly impressed upon city council by Postmaster Charles Hard at their regular caucus meeting Friday night.

Mr. Hard submitted a written report of recommendations. He would recommend that city council pass an ordinance requiring all property owners to number their houses within sixty days after such ordinance was passed, and that all persons leasing houses be required to take out numbers immediately.

The discussion brought out the fact that number plates are obtainable at any hardware store. All seemed to favor doing away with street dividers, and if plans are carried out there will be no longer a north or south end of street and west end of a street.

Dr. Fetter asked for $1,000 for the board to carry on its work next and next year, but was told it will be numbered with Scioto through the winter, but was told that council could not appropriate beyond January 1. The councilman assured Dr. Fetter the great work of his board was appreciated, and all the more so because the members were working without compensation. Dr. Fetter, Kline and Le Baron have been working purely voluntarily in visiting the schools and examining pupils, in an effort to abate the present diphtheria epidemic.

A petition was received from W. W. Donaldson and other property owners, of East Eighth street, asking for a sanitary sewer in the high school alley west of Waller to the Esselhorn property. The engineer was directed to bring in an estimate.

Engineer Hudson also recommended the reconstruction of the sanitary sewer between Seventh and Eighth streets, west of Brown street.

800 AT THE HUMAN HEARTS MATINEE

Nearly 800 people this afternoon, saw Human Hearts at the same time, a splendid free from Grand opera house, and judging from the liberal applause, were well satisfied with the performance.

REV. MEEKER HEARD BY SPLENDID CROWD

Rev. Jacob P. Meeker, pastor of Compton Hill Congregational church in St. Louis, demonstrated his ability Friday evening that he is without a doubt one of the most powerful men of the present age. On Thursday evening he spoke for two hours and thirty-five minutes. Many people imagined he had completely exhausted his subject, but he came back fresh as a daisy last night and held the undivided attention of his crowd of 3,000 men for two hours, and was going strong at the finish.

And he maintained the reputation he made for himself at Thursday night's meeting, that of being one of the ablest and most eloquent speakers ever heard from a Portsmouth platform. He at all times has the break ready. When some speakers denounce a certain thing which they abhor, they are liable to say something for which they are sorry. Not so with Rev. Meeker. He can start like a flash and then apply the brakes and stop all of sudden.

On Friday evening he argued along statistical lines to a greater or less extent and came bravely to the defense of the servant girl and those women who are compelled to earn their bread by the sweat of their faces. He claimed that but a very small percentage of the crimes can be traced to the over-indulgence in liquor.

Frank Lee Sikes opened the meeting with a fifteen minute address. He was followed by Rev. Walbridge, of Illinois, who delivered a twenty minute talk. He took occasion to say that the only thing for a temperance man to do in this campaign was to remain at home on election day. He said: "The man who votes dry votes for the blind tiger and the suit case special; the man who votes wet votes for the open, well regulated saloon. Both, therefore, vote for liquor; one would have it sold in the alley, the other by a bootlegger." Rev. Meeker said in part:

"I don't propose to say anything in reply to those uncomplimentary remarks that have been made about me since being in your city. It doesn't hurt me a bit and seems to satisfy them perfectly.

"After passing a few compliments to his critics, he said: 'It is a sound principle. We can never afford to permit extremists on any side of any question to dictate law.' At this point some one shouted 'hallelujah,' and the speaker immediately called out: 'I believe I have one Methodist here.'

"The extremist, if you let him go the whole length, will destroy the very thing he is trying to save.

"Why is it there is so much lying, vilifying and everything mean goes into this campaign? I want the women to understand this is a political and not a church question, and if the women have gone into the political business, they must understand it is a game of give and take.

"On the one side you've got religious fanaticism; on the other a fight for liberty. One side insists that heaven has given them the insight into the solution of the question. The other side is fighting for its rights."

"I want to say that the folks who represent the dry side are experts at throwing mud.

"You have got this question before you squarely, whether you will have liquor sold openly, where you can control it, or whether you'll get it via the suit case special. It's not a question relating to the distiller, the brewer or the saloonkeeper. How will the Drys explain this? While they have been voting counties dry, it is a fact that the sale of liquor is on the increase. I say according to facts that the man who stands for control of the liquor traffic is a better friend of temperance than the fellow who stands on the other side. Now, I'd like to see the speakers go to it on the above statement. It's up to the man to reason the increase when he has seen a decrease. I am sure the liquor has not been used as a stimulant or sleep dip.

"I was asked today if I didn't have a boy. Yes, one son and two daughters. I left them safe and sound to find them safe and sound when I return. I have no more of my boy becoming a drunkard than a thief.

"We never hold beautiful girls responsible for the wreck of men."

We never hold beautiful men responsible for the wreck of women. I find many young fellows in Sunday school are the most artistic liars on earth.

"I want to say in my work in the last five years I have not been in the habit of making pastoral calls. A man's church should be his force. If a preacher has to be the social secretary and wet nurse for his flock, he'd better quit.

"I live across the street from the court house, five minutes' walk from the jail, and I am often called upon to secure paroles for unfortunate men serving out sentences.

"We who are strong, should hear the infirmities of the weak. I do not find one family difficulty that originally found its cause in liquor, where I find eight other causes. Men are not miserable because they drink, but they drink because they are miserable. I am the companion of the unfortunate, especially the men who are paroled. Some of those paroled from Leavenworth never took a drink of liquor; they were those good, good chaps. Some people are never willing to shoulder the responsibility for their own enslavement. We hesitate to acknowledge our own weaknesses. Some people to hear the Drys tell it, have to believe there are more people in the penitentiary than on the outside.

"We are tickled to get all the law we can, but we don't want to see it enforced." This statement was made in reference to minors getting liquor in a saloon. "Well," said the speaker, "when you know that a saloon sold to a minor, what did you do about it? When a saloon keeper violates the law, take him by the seat of the neck, shove him out the door, and tell him there won't be any selling to minors. The purpose of the law is to treat a boy under 21 as a charge or a ward."

"I know of men who have become drunkards because of unfaithfulness of their wives. I know of men becoming drunkards because they have failed in their business. That man is not a fit subject for jail or work house; he should be treated as an unfortunate, and not a criminal. Put him in jail and when he is turned out he is weaker than when he was arrested."

"I know of men who have stopped drinking when their wives came back to them; of men who have stopped drinking because success was again laughing before their eyes. Someone said to me today: 'I thought you were one who preached Jesus Christ.' I am, and I let me say that Jesus Christ is the hope of the people and not the prohibition party."

"Whenever you begin to suggest that a man is weakly in the wheels, then he begins to straighten up the machine. The man who sells liquor by law is forbidden to sell liquor to a sub-normal condition."

"As we come to think of drunkenness the man who becomes an inebriate, is generally sub-normal. That kind of a man needs a physical plan of buying liquor from a bar-tender party. One of the last joys that came to me before leaving St. Louis was the grasping of the hand of a splendid young fellow who had just been paroled from breakfast to midnight. Why the work house. He told me at one time that whiskey was the most much easier to talk than to cause of his downfall. I had a work. No town or city would go to heart talk with him and dry if the Drys thought there I learned it was his vanity that led him into trouble first. He had liquor in it. You don't find a had ease of religion, got to traveling with a fast crowd and could make a confession of his sins. I don't keep up the pace on his own town goes dry, they shout God salary, so he began to help the was in it; if it goes wet, they began drinking then to drown his Lord. As long as the laws of sorrow. Many young fellows work, juries of certain fruits throw up their dollars just to let will continue to work and fee people know they've got the delinquent and make alcohol. There I've watched men drink in were five times as many drunk saloons and I've come out sober, and 100 years ago than there are. It is not a great moral question, today. Your town may vote dry. Drinking is like eating. If you may vote wet, but you'll go along having trouble over the don't want to eat, don't eat. It is the temperate man who controls his appetite."

"I hear the Drys tell it from girls. Jesus Christ did not go out to 50 to 60 per cent. of the hours of to capture the world by any kind of a legislation. But he called this country which is broken up by was caused by drink. But let us say with all my force that liquor is not the chief cause for divorce in this country." The speaker read from government statistics to prove his assertion. "From 1857 to 1906 more than 100,000 divorces were granted. Of these 3,600 or 3.6 per cent. are attributed to drunkenness; that cause being the only ground for action, as mentioned in the petition. Where drunkenness was one of the causes the per cent was 1.7 per cent. I am not going to tell this mixed audience what was the leading cause for divorces, but if any of you want to find out all I have concluded my remarks, I will tell you. The prohibitionist would have you believe that drunkenness was due to drink. They would know better if they investigated conditions and spoke facts."

Probably the Anti-Prohibitionists twenty years ago dedicated this remedy for this campaign, but it came out of the Special Report of Prisoners and Juvenile Delinquents in Institutions, from 1904, and here is what we found out about crime amongst women: "Taking the ratio of percent in the professional life, 3.4 per cent. of all the criminal women come from professional life; 1.5 per cent. from the clerical, that is, clerks and stenographers; mercantile, public entertainment, 3.9 per cent. I am on the wrong number. In musicians and teachers that is amongst the males."

"This is the women's record: Musicians and teachers of music, 2 of 1 per cent; teachers, 1 of 1 per cent; stenographers and typewriters, 1 of 1 per cent. of the criminal percent; age of criminal women, 1 of 1 per cent. come from that field, and had cried and made a great speech about these poor girls, when I didn't have the information. You know lots of folks change the course of their tears when they get the information. Bookkeepers and clerks furnish 3 of 1 per cent; hotel and boarding house keepers, 1 of 1 per cent; laundresses, 4.5 per cent, and the servant girls, 76.6 per cent." These girls that are in the homes of the American women. Now then, cry out of the other side a while and go back home and apologize to your servant girl for the way you have treated her and help her in her fight to be a clean woman."

"You propose a party for your servant girl in one of your churches and see what happens. You wonder why the servant girl don't come to church and see you sit in your pew and enjoy your religion. You don't know where your servant girl spends her evenings, and few of you give a rap about her on the streets and cry, 'Save the boys.' For God's sake, why don't you pay attention to the servant girls; for, from the American kitchen come 76 per cent. of the criminal women of the country. You go home tonight and take one good cry for the servant girl. I'd like to see the W. C. T. U. Servant Girls' Association get busy."

"I'd rather have a saloonkeeper on the corner where I can keep an eye on him than to have a bootlegger up in the alley raking them in."

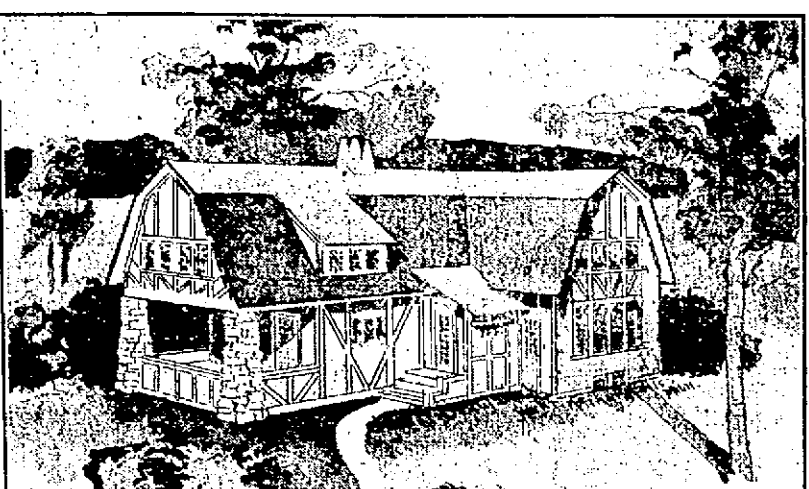

"The enforcement of prohibition law is absolutely impossible, and what is the use of trying to do the impossible. You changed the plan of buying liquor from a bartender party to a suit case, box of books, or that came to me before leaving St. Louis was the grasping of the hand of a splendid young fellow who had just been paroled from breakfast to midnight. Why the work house. He told me at one time that whiskey was the most much easier to talk than to cause of his downfall. I had a work. question as we treat the individual in every other problem. What is the solution of your crime amongst servant girls? To organize a Servant Girls' Protective Association and pin on some ribbon and sing songs and march the streets and say, 'God save our servant girls!' It is for each individual woman who has in her employ a girl toward whom she has taken the attitude of a social snob to go to that individual girl and take her by the hand, putting her heart alongside the heart of that lonely girl, and help her to become a true woman. That is the method of Jesus. He did not go out to capture the world by any means of legislation. He called men to himself and became their friend, and they His friend. One of the last things He said, 'I no longer call you servants, but friends.' He called the world to the friendship that He enjoyed with His own Father in heaven and after He had called these men, not to be servants, but to be His friends, He sent out and set out a program for the transformation of the society of the world, by telling each individual of that company that he was to go out and do for others what He had done for them. If Jesus Christ had believed that legislation was the solution of the production of character, he would have suggested the legislation necessary. And I maintain that the man or the woman who tries to find relief for his conscience because of his own misdeed and snobbish attitude toward society, by getting into something that will propose character by legislation, has left the program submitted by Christ, and I ask any man to read the story of His gospel and contradict that statement. I am getting tired of simple because I will not give my assent to a thing which I honestly believe is impossible and against principle, being always denounced as against the Christ. I challenge any man on either side to take the statement I made just now of the program of Jesus Christ and say that it is not His program. And society is being elevated every day into a larger hope and a greater life, weak as we may be, blind as we may be, unenlightened as we are at times. We are discovering this to have been the fact. There have been some strange scenes on the stage in the last two thousand years. The Christ started out as a friend to men. He was preached as the friend and the savior. At last He came to be placed in the theological dogma. Men talked of Him as a part of a machine movement on the part of God for saving the world. He was a cog in the wheel, and He was held out beyond, and if a man only said he believed in Him he was given a pass right straight through to glory. He could go out and lie and murder and steal. He could do anything, if he only said he believed in Him who died to save men. But the world came to know and though they saw on the one hand in the church murder and rapine, everything that was vicious, yet there came the dawn of one day after another. Why? Because through it all the Christ was being exalted and men were beginning to understand Him. And the dark ages passed away. Who would go back to any age of the past? The days of Calvin, the days of John Knox, the days of the Inquisition? Any age of the past since Christ has been infinitely worse than this one, and men have gone on, they have found their old ideas crumbling under them. They have passed resolutions, they have issued edicts. Once, you know, they issued an edict—about four hundred of them—teachers, all of them. Yet the fellow who said the world was round had to take it back, for the world was flat. And he took it back, and they issued their edict. And what do you suppose the world did? It just kept on going. Yes, sir! The world went right on, as it had done all the centuries before. And they issued edicts and they have passed laws and taken short cuts, or attempted to; yet it elevated humanity until tonight not a few preachers but the statesmen of America and Europe are saying: 'Let us as nations get together and stack our arms and follow in search of the Prince of Peace.' And His program has been, as you know, not by calling companies together and passing resolutions, but by the passing one of that life from one God-touched soul to another. Not in preaching but in living and in doing the thing that He said you and I shall do.

"As I go tonight for my work elsewhere, I trust and hope that whatever bitterness or unkindness has been suggested by anything that I say—I apologize and ask the pardon of any one whose feelings I have wounded, if in any moment of thoughtlessness I have gone beyond the line of the point of courtesy. I want to say to you that I believe now with all my English Half Timber Cottage, costing $4,200. Designed by Chas. S. Sedgwick, Architect.

The use of English Half Timber and the special floor in effect. The roof of slate or tile construction, combined with natural yellow pine or fir. The exterior may be of shingles and stained cement dash work, is not new in this country, but is growing in use very rapidly in some localities.

In this connection the gambrel roof is very appropriate, where a low cottage is desired and for rural homes, lake side or sea side resorts. Our design is on the rambling order, with the entrance leading back in the angle formed by the dining-room wing.

The living room with the wide piazza across the front makes a very attractive room and is well lighted by the windows on three sides. The dining room is of ample size and connected with kitchen through the pantry. There is a bedroom on the first floor and a bathroom accessible from both bedroom and kitchen.

On the second floor are three good bedrooms and ample closets. These rooms are full height and well lighted. The first floor is measured.

heart that the boundary line of the kingdom of God is vastly larger in its circumference than is the circle of the organized church. I believe that God in His work, in the rising of the Sun of Righteousness, is enlightening the whole world, and you and I will be faithful and true unto Him as we stand squarely against the proposition of the income of a million by legislation and stand for the program of loving service and kindly sympathy which the Master of us all had exemplified in His life. I thank you."

CLUB CLASSES WILL SOON BE ORGANIZED

The Club classes will soon be organized. Prof. Knowles, the physical instructor, is now installing apparatus. Special interest will be taken in the Business Men's Class, from a health standpoint. Scientific body building exercises will be taught each class night. A great deal of interest is being manifested among the business men of the city, and Prof. Knowles expects the club to be of great benefit to the city in building up the physical side of the men and women of the city.

Classes will be held for women, also, if enough ladies can be secured to make it worth while to organize a ladies' class. Basket ball clubs will be organized in all classes, and games will be played between clubs, and also outside games will be arranged for if possible.

MR. MOOTS IS HONORED

The many friends of Charles E. Moots, of Powellville, O., who it will be recalled acted in the capacity of assistant to Dr. J. S. Lake, this summer, will be pleased to learn that he has been signally honored by the members of his class at the Cincinnati Veterinary College, where he is a student. At a meeting of the class held the other day, Mr. Moots was unanimously elected president, which is an indication that he is held in the highest esteem by his fellow pupils. As soon as he receives his diploma, it is quite likely that he will come to Portsmouth, where he will locate for the practice of his profession.

JAY DICK NOW AFTER PARDON

Edward J. Dick, son of Rev. W. V. Dick, former pastor of Bigelow M. E. church, who was sentenced to the Ohio penitentiary from Franklin county for larceny, is an applicant for pardon.

Good Bowler Now Here

William Barron, representative of the Brunswick-Balke Co., of the Queen City, is in the city. Mr. Barron is one of the crack bowlers of the country and the representative of a square deal company.

Thomas McGavin, one of the wet orators, will speak at the corner of Fourth and Chillicothe streets this evening.

Drys Held A Fine Meet

The "Drys" held quite a meeting in the driest part of Seoto county, Seoto Furnace, Friday evening, when four local speakers held forth in the school house, which was filled and then some.

Rev. Clayton S. Brooks and Henry Dyer were the first two speakers. When they had concluded J. H. Finney and W. W. Gates came trotting up and entered the school house. These two men had expected to address a gathering further up the line, but when these gentlemen arrived at the designated spot, they found the advertising matter had not been received and no crowd of course had gathered. Mr. Finney delivered a fifteen minutes talk at Seoto Furnace and not being willing to allow Finney to have anything on him, Mr. Gates did likewise. It was one of the best meetings held in the country during the campaign. The Drys are claiming that not more than two wet votes will be cast at Seoto Furnace.

Will Speak At Ironton

Before returning to his home in St. Louis, Saturday morning, Rev. Jacob E. Meeker, pastor of the Compton Hill Congregational church in the Mount City, made arrangements with a party of business men to appear in Ironton for an address on Monday, October 23.

It is quite likely that Rev. Meeker will make two addresses in Ironton. He will speak at the opera house, which they have rented for the next ten days, having beaten the "drys" to it. The gentlemen who waited upon Mr. Meeker in this city, stated that the local option fight was waning up in Lawrence county and they are sure they will have some pretty strenuous times in the quiet little city between now and election.

New Paper Is Out

That local Socialists are in earnest when they say they expect to conduct a warm campaign, was shown, Saturday, when there appeared on the streets a copy of their new paper, "Forward." Five thousand copies of the paper have been printed and they will be delivered free into every home in the city. It is the intention of the Socialists to issue the "Forward" every week until the campaign is over. Articles are contributed by local comrades, and several of them touch upon local conditions. And when a Socialist says anything you do not have to have an interpreter along to explain its meaning.

COBB AND SCHULTE ARE NAMED AUTO WINNERS

Chicago, Oct. 14.—Outfielder Schulte, of the Chicago National league club, and Ty Cobb, of the Detroit American league team, won the automobiles offered this year for the players in each league who were adjudged by a jury of newspaper men to have been of most service to their club in 1911.

The presentation is planned to take place in New York or Philadelphia later. No one line of endeavor determined the award this year, the winner being scored according to his efficiency, Cobb's percentage was 1.000 and Schulte's .933 under the system used. Big Ed Walsh, of the White Sox, was second in the American league voting, and Christy Mathewson, of the Giants, ran second to Schulte in the National league. Eddie Collins was third, Joe Jackson, fourth and Walter Johnson, fifth in the American; and Larry Doyle, Hans Wagner and Grover Alexander were tied for third, fourth and fifth places in the National.

Reds Won Second

The Reds simply ran away with the game yesterday in the second game for the championship of the state. The Reds won 10 to 2 and turned the trick easily, winning out by the power of their clubs. The Reds have won both of the games and look capable of bringing home the championship.

The Score.

Mack vs McGraw

MAJOR. Aged forty-nine. Born in New England. Tall and lanky. Calm and deliberate. Leads from bench. Never dons a uniform. Known as a tactician.

McGRAW. Aged thirty-eight. Born in New York. Short and chubby. Quick and impulsive. Always on coaching lines. Always in ball toss. Distinctly a strategist.

BASEBALL GOSSIP

Had Chase says Mathewson will win three games against the Athletics, if he pitches that many, but Marquard will not figure in the victories, and the Athletics will be able to hold their title. That is figuring it out as close as any one could want in advance.

The national commission will set at rest the reports of the new Powers grounds. Many parks have had the seating capacity reduced by the figures given out by the national commission.

Manager Fred Clarke of the Pirates is going to hike for his Kansas team. He is going to play the Pirates in the next game. He is going to play the Pirates in the next game.

It is quite possible that Babe Ruth has been waiting for his chance to come back. He has shown the Reds he is entitled to consideration, by the way he has pitched this fall, since he was recalled.

Deacon Phillippe, the veteran player of the Pirates, is now spoken of as the next manager of the Reds. To mention any one as the next manager of the Cincinnati Reds is to make a joke, however, and is not a compliment to any player.

Bill Howard, who has just resigned as manager of the Louisville team, will visit California this coming winter to be the guest of his brother-in-law, who has been playing in the Pacific Coast league.

Jimmy McAllister is trying to cheer up the Washington fans by telling them that the Senators look very promising.

Wow! A New One

FIRST—"Bird" filed to right field for the first out. "Candle" hit on one of "Gard's" smoky goes for three bases, but was put out at home. "Fido" kick at the decision and was driven off the field. "Ice" was cool, but "Iron" grew hot, when "Salmon" was caught for passing the "Umpire". "Cannon" was fired off the coaching lines for having too big a mouth; Umpire "Peanut" was roasted; "Gork" popped to right field for the third out.

SIXTH—"Fish" got the hook and "Molasses" ran out and is now covering center field. "Rubber" bounced in left for two bases, but was out stretching it. "Nail" reached second on "Piano's" rotten playing and was driven in by "Hammer", who pounded the ball for three bases. "Gard" swung on three wide ones, and "Molasses" caught a fly without moving, which ended the game.

Cobb Has Change Of Heart

Ty Cobb has changed his opinion for the coming world's championship from his Giants to the Athletics. Two weeks ago Ty was sure the Giants would win.

Cobb loses his opinion on the Giants that hitters who swing instead of chop at the ball, can hit Christy Mathewson. Ty says Christy Hemphill, a swinging hitter, batted Matty hard in the Giant-Yankee series last fall. He is mistaken in this. Hemphill hit Matty hard, but the Yankees' best batter and a swinging hitter of the pronounced type, hit Mathewson for only .850 average.

Ty also says this Speaker batted Matty hard in the third best Sox series in 1908. Speaker's lifetime was respectable for a 2 to 6 victory over Mathewson. In another game Matty stepped this.

The Athletics have five swinging hitters. They are Earl, Charlie Murphy, Harry and Fred, Fred Luden, Philadelphia National first baseman, a swinging hitter, solved Matty early in the season, but later he couldn't even get a foul off Matty, who struck out Luden four times in one game.

This is the season of the year when the members of the national commission are readying their harvest. With the 10 per cent of the post-season series flowing into the treasury, the commission hopes to have enough to meet the expenses of another year.

Charlie Ebbetts has spent $50,000 in gathering news in detail for the Dodgers for next year. He says he is going to lose another championship for Brooklyn before he quits.

THREE YEARS AGO

It is a strange thing what three years can do in baseball. In the fall of 1908, when Johnny Evers, by his quick thinking, won a pennant for the Cubs, which would have belonged to the Giants but for an oversight of Fred Merkle in failing to touch second base, who would have thought that today Evers is practically down and out, a sick man, in no shape to play, while Merkle has become the best first baseman in the National league, and one of the most valuable players in the business.

BEAT MATTY, BREAK SPIRIT OF THE GIANTS IN FIRST GAME

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—Beat Mathewson in the first game and break the Giant's spirit, is the slogan of the Athletics, who played the second of four games with the All Stars here Tuesday. It is this series that the Athletics are banking on to put them right on edge for the brush with the Giants.

Combs wants to beat Mathewson the first game, for he figures that with the perfect six out of the way the spirit of the Giants will be broken, the reckoning may be correct, as it generally is, and if Matty fails, the Giants the first time out the other batters will not have any great degree of confidence in themselves, well called upon.

Matty Sullivan, of the Sox, is driving a new automobile. He has been putting in so much time in it that he has contracted a heavy cold but says that he will be in the shape before the games with the Cubs.

STARS WILL SHINE AT MILLBROOK

All aboard for Millbrook Park, will be the slogan of fans Sunday afternoon, for all admirers of the local stars will be on hand to see the game between the All-Professionals and All-Stars. In the former line-up will be players who have brought fame to Portsmouth and fortune to themselves. Reference is made to Bridwell, Swander, Conwell, O'Day and Goodrich, while the others are right now in a position to do the same thing for themselves. The All-Stars will have a line-up that will more than likely make the professionals step some. The game will be called promptly at 2:30 o'clock and the admission will be 25 cents, pick of seats in the grand stand included.

The line-up follows:
All-Professionals—Smith, 1b; Hornung, 2b; Bridwell, ss; Conwell, 3b; Swander, lf; O'Day, cf; Goodrich, rf; Moore, p; Demint, c.
All-Stars—Joe Hannun, 1b; Hartledge, 2b; Doherty, ss; Allen, 3b; Dodge, lf; Banfield, cf; Stillewell, rf; Mowry and DeLoet, p; McDaniel, c.

PEITZ HOME IS DESTROYED

The home of Florence, Ky., of "Heinie" Peitz, well known baseball player and former manager of the Louisville American Association club, and the Lancaster baseball club of the Ohio State League, was destroyed by fire early Wednesday. The fire is believed to have been of incendiary origin. The loss is about $2500.

Bill Skyes In Lima

Lima, O., Oct. 12.—Bill Skyes, a member of the Lima championship baseball aggregation in 1909, is in the city to spend a few days with friends. Skyes played with Atlanta in the southern league last season, and his work was so glib that he was drafted by Brooklyn this fall. He will receive a thorough try-out with the Dodgers next spring.

Big Game Sunday

The All-Stars will play the All-Professionals Sunday afternoon at Millbrook Park. Such well known players as Goodrich, Swander, Moore, Conwell, Bridwell, Smith, O'Day, Keller, will play with the All-Professionals, the All-Stars have a fast team and will try to put one over on the All-Professionals.

Team Goes To Peebles

A fast bunch of local ball players journeyed to Peebles Saturday where they were to play the bill team of that place in a double-header. The line-up of the locals is as follows: Banfield, lf; Smith, cf; Kitch, rf; Melan, 1b; Mowry, 2b; Moore, ss; Mason, 3b; McDaniel, c; DeLoetle and Geiger, pitchers.

Kendall Dever, one of the prosperous farmers of Mun's Run, is seriously ill with stomach trouble.

PORTSMOUTH VISITOR BROKE IN MAYSVILLE

Maysville, Ky., Oct. 14.—In the court room thanking the Judge.

Police Court an old soldier was brought before Judge Whitaker charged with being drunk and disorderly. His name was Henry C. Pitcher and he was seventy-six years old. When found he was sitting in a front street door step much under the influence of liquor and singing some of the old time war songs.

The old soldier, who was dressed in blue uniform with brass buttons, told Judge Whitaker that he was on his way from the soldiers home in Dayton, O., from Portsmouth and that at Cincinnati he met with some of his old friends and took a little too freely to the glass. When he arrived in Maysville he was out of money and started down to the wharfboat to cross over the river and then walk out to Portsmouth or until he could get a boat to haul him there.

The old man's story touched Judge Whitaker, who, although not a soldier, is past the half way place and the kind-hearted Judge went down into his own pocket and gave him the money to get out of town.

The old soldier was very much pleased and bowed his way out of the court room.

STILL AFTER BOOTLEGGERS

Additional evidence was gathered against liquor law violators across the river by the court of inquiry, presided over by Squire Briggs, when it resumed its investigation Saturday.

A total of more than two score of citizens of Pullerton and South Portsmouth have already appeared and reported evidence which will result in making of several arrests, and the officers are certain they will be able to secure convictions.

It is said that a number of warrants will be issued soon, but the officials who are conducting the probe refused to divulge the names of the offenders to be presented, except Alf and Jim Harrison and William Brandlett.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Anne Berning, of Cincinnati, has been the guest the past few days of her sister, Mrs. Lena Galloway, of John street. Mrs. Berning will attend a musical comedy performance at Greenfield, tonight in which her recent-year-old son William is the German comedian. The troupe is composed of eighteen amateurs, of which W. H. is the bright, particular star.

Mrs. John Meatz, regally entertained her Sunday school class of Trinity M. E. church, consisting of five young boys, at her beautiful home on Grandview avenue, Friday evening, from 6:30 until 8:30. A fine musical program was rendered, the selections being as follows:

March of Spring, Frühlingsmarch, Schumann.
Sonata, Krutner, Brahms.
Dedication of Faust, Berlioz.
El Dorado, Polka de Concert, Bartlett.

Puzzles were tried during the evening and all sorts of fun indulged in by the little chaps. Delicious punch cream, lemon, chocolate and coconut cake were soon disposed of with keen delight. "Recollections of Home" was then played, and the boys began to get their caps and bid their fair young hostess good-bye and farewell, as Mr. and Mrs. Meatz are to leave Portsmouth in the near future. Miss. Gaius Noel, Pearl Nacer and Miss. Coffey, charming young girls, assisted in the hospitalities, and one of them wore a sparkling diamond on the third finger of her left hand. "Does it mean anything?" we all ask. We would all like to know. The truth, we hope, will be revealed later.

Division Engineer C. F. Josh of the N. & W. Saturday chaperoned his Sunday School class of the First Presbyterian church to Sergeant's Mound, Adams county.

Harry Knapp, who resigned as city bacteriologist, expects to leave tonight for New York City to resume his medical studies.

Taken To Hospital.
Frank J. Emmitt, of East Second street, who is ill with typhoid fever, was removed to Hempstead hospital this morning by Lynn's ambulance. He continues very ill.

Hit In Head With Rock
A rock thrown by companions hit a chestnut tree struck Joe, young son of Oscar Foster, on top of the head at Mary's Inn, Friday evening, knocking him senseless for a few minutes.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.

The past week has been what they call on the Board of Trade here a "scissors" market. The reason they give it that name is that the trades that have been made during the week have been made principally by the smaller firms who buy and sell from five to fifty thousand bushels daily.

These small buyers and sellers cut very little figure in covering the prices, as a consequence the market has fluctuated less than one cent during the entire week either one way or the other on all cereals.

December corn closed today about one-half cent lower than it closed last Saturday, December wheat showing an advance of almost one cent over the close of last Saturday.

December oats closed at the same price as they did one week ago.

Taking the whole situation as it stands today, it requires a very slight runner to effect the market either way, and until the new crop of corn begins to move there will be very little change in that cereal.

Wheat seems to have rounded about as high as it will be able to go for some little time, as just the moment it reaches a certain price on the board there is a rush to sell, which supplies all the demand, and then the situation rests as it has almost every day in the past week.

WET NOTES

(Advertisement)

The Drys lose. We had more voters at our meeting last night than the drys will have during the entire week.

Do not fail to hear C. Homer Durand tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. He will entertain and instruct you.

No Wet speaker has advised the use of liquor by any one, at any time or place. If it is to be used they advocate that it be purchased in an honorable manner, at home, and from men you know.

Who is the better able to judge of the effects of dry not in Portsmouth William Miller, who has been here since six months or the merchant who has spent quarter of a century here?

Save the boys and girls! What Rot! The girls don't drink and the boys, well they just send away and order a gallon of whiskey at a time.

A safe and sane handling of the liquor question is by far preferable to the bootlegger and the speakeasy.

Whom does Mr. Miller, the alleged and supposed editor and owner of the Blade represent?

Does he represent his political party? No! Does he represent the retail business interests of Portsmouth? He does not!

He probably represents Geo. D. Selby, Pearl E. Selby, J. J. Baird, John T. Breese and A. Z. Blair and a very few other persons who would bankrupt every retail merchant in Portsmouth, to satisfy their own selfish demands.

Who is William M. Miller that sets up his opinion upon business conditions in Portsmouth, against that of Ninety-five (95) per cent of the retail merchants of the city?

In how many cities of Ohio has he been running a newspaper in the past ten years?

He seems to have been a "Bird of Passage" in the newspaper field.

Is it a matter of morals with the editor of the Blade or is it a matter of money?

What promises were made Mr. Miller by George D. Selby, John T. Breese and others if he would come to Portsmouth, to fight the interests of the retail merchants of our city? Do you want the support and patronage of these business men? If you do, why not help them!

The Blade has said two by four politicians are not wanted. They only have use for such politicians as Pearl Selby and A. Z. Blair.

Let all political workers take notice that unless they can get in the same class as Blair or the Selbys, they are not wanted to come near the Blade Office.

Will the politics of Portsmouth be improved by this move of the Blade? We shall see.

We were assured by an employee of the Blade who solicited our "Ads" that the paper would remain neutral. Have they kept their promises?

The "Dry" orators lied to deceived and imposed upon you in the wet and dry fight of 1908. Are you going to let them do it again?

Vote for the regulated saloon. It is an improvement over the bootlegger and the speakeasy.

"Save the Boys." Cry the hypocritical dry leaders and orators. Save them, for what? For the bootlegger, speakeasy and the whiskey mail order houses?

When Portsmouth had saloons did you ever hear the boys in knee breeches ordering whiskey? The hypocritical, deceitful dry orators howl about the open saloon. Do they say anything about the dip joints, the speakeasies and the bootleggers? No. They are not paid for that.

Who discovered Editor Miller of the Daily Blade? Who brought him to Portsmouth? How much did he get for coming here? And what promise did he make to those who subsidized him?

If William Miller, editor and alleged proprietor of the Daily Blade is right in his fight to keep Portsmouth dry, then the Two Hundred and Fifty business men who are earnestly working to make Portsmouth wet, must be all wrong. These men were residents of Portsmouth long before Mr. Miller was ever heard of in these parts.

Many of them have done business here for nearly quarter of a century. They have helped to build up the city, have been and are good and useful citizens and expect to make Portsmouth their permanent homes.

How much have the Mail Order Houses contributed to the Dry cause, or the Seoto County Local Option League, that has induced them to recommend and advise the use of their vile liquors rather than to advocate the purchase of liquors which will be satisfactory on such methods. It is Selby selfishness that has controlled and formulated the whole plan of the Dry campaign.

Will Editor Miller and his editorial force of writers he with us in twelve months?

In how many cities has Mr. Miller owned a newspaper within the past five years?

Under what circumstances did he come to Portsmouth?

How much money was contributed by George D. Selby and others to purchase the Blade from its former owners? Who contributed the funds that were used in purchasing the prizes that were given to those working to secure subscriptions for the Blade? Why did not the Blade declare its dry policy earlier in the campaign?

Does Mr. Miller expect to make the whole Republican party dry, or does he expect to obtain results from the Democratic party, or does he intend to affiliate with the Prohibitionists?

Let us have a full answer to all of the above questions and a full and free expression as to what will be the policy of the Blade on political matters and so

Miller was ever heard of in these parts. Many of them have done business here for nearly quarter of a century. They have helped to build up the city, have been and are good and useful citizens and expect to make Portsmouth their permanent homes.

How much have the Mail Order Houses contributed to the Dry cause, or the Seoto County Local Option League, that has induced them to recommend and advise the use of their vile liquors rather than to advocate the purchase of liquors which will be satisfactory on such methods. It is Selby selfishness that has controlled and formulated the whole plan of the Dry campaign.

THEATRICAL

The Chorus Lady Monday Night

If you want to laugh don't miss the "Chorus Lady" which will be the attraction at the Grand Monday evening. It is the play that made Rose Stahl famous

THE CHORUS LADY IS SURE TO PLEASE YOU

When James Forbes, the author of "The Traveling Salesman" and "The Commuters" built the fabric of "The Chorus Lady," which comes to the Grand opera house on Monday night, October 16, out of a short story he contributed to Ainslee's Magazine, he succeeded beyond his fondest hopes and dreams. As a play, it will live long in the annals of stage history. As an entertainment, it has been seldom, if ever, equalled.

The story concerns the kindly characters who meet every day have laid aside their swaddling clothes and assumed the dignity of villages. They have done this by incorporating at the secretary of state's office. These villages will elect a brand new set of officials for the first time at the November election. The seven villages are Avon Lake, Lorain county; Burgoon, Sanitucky county; Bloomington and Rittman, Wayne county; Dover, Chuyahoga county; Sharonville, Hamilton county; and Parma Heights, Chuyahoga county.

who is in love with Dan Mallory, owner of a racing stable, of which her father is the trainer. Through a series of reverses Mallory has been compelled to seek a partner to keep his stable going and Patricia, arriving home as the play opens, finds this partner, a rich young man about town, is trying to ingratiate himself into the affections of Nora, a pretty younger sister, who is living at home. Discerning his purpose at once, Patricia determined to remove Nora from his influence. The second act reveals the chorus dressing room of the Longacre theatre, New York City, where a number of the members of a musical comedy chorus are making-up for the evening performance. Nora has again become involved with Crawford, as her betting propensities have compelled her to seek aid. At the same time she has incurred the enmity of Sylvia Simpson, a scheming show girl, who to vent her spleen, is doing all she can to injure the reputation of the little country girl. Just at this particular time, the parents of the O'Brien girls appear on the scene to make them a visit and, as might be expected, complications pile upon each other rapidly. The third act shifts the action to Crawford's rooms and makes matters still worse, but in the fourth and concluding act, occurring at the Hudson flat of the two sisters, matters are satisfactorily adjusted, and a happy ending preceded the final curtain.

Ohio River May Lose Coal Traffic

Pittsburg, October 14.—The recent completion of the merger of the Pittsburg Coal Company and the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company, according to local river men, may mean the breaking up of one of the largest fleets of tow boats in the world.

The government's tardiness in assuring sufficient improvements also has been a factor in deciding this matter of the future.

River men say that although coal can be bought cheaper at the southern ports when shipped by water, it is sometimes a big loss to the coal companies owing to numerous accidents which cause whole fleets to sink and all the coal to be lost. The coal cannot be recovered when it once goes to the bottom of the river, while in case of an accident on the railroad the coal can all be shoveled back into the cars.

About 65 boats make up the largest fleet which holds a record for the largest shipment. During the first week of September over 10,000,000 bushels of coal were shipped from the local harbor. Of this 360,000 bushels were sunk in the Mississippi river and caused a loss of $50,000.

Rumors of transportation of coal by rail became current several months ago and caused anxiety among river men. Transportation officials of local companies believed that the time is not far distant when the only river coal shipments will be to points in the Pittsburgh district. Cincinnati and Southern less message has been received across the Pacific ocean. Operators at Hill Crest station, here, declare that there is no reason to discuss such a course at this time. River men, however, insist that their fears are not unwarranted. Recent changing of ships to boats, the wrecked stages during the big part of the year and many minor obstacles, it is said, have killed the river shipping.

San Francisco, October 14.—Wireless communication between this city and Japan, a distance of 4,800 miles has been established. This is the first time that a wireless message has been received across the Pacific ocean. "HUMAN HEARTS" AT GRAND TONIGHT

The visit of "Human Hearts" will, no doubt, be warmly welcomed by the lovers of all that is good in melodrama. "Human Hearts" is beyond question, one of the strongest and most interesting of plays that has ever visited our city. The author belongs to that all too small group of dramatists who understands how to reach the heart and hold the attention of the audience. In "Human Hearts" he has constructed a play that will never grow old. The principal theme of the play is "Hope," and has not some author written "Hope springs eternal in the human breast," "Hope" the one bright ray of sunshine that breaks through and illumines the clouds of despair that almost overwhelm poor "Tom Logan," the "Hope" of a good, pure woman's love—the "Hope" of brighter days—the "Hope" of an honest man, unjustly accused of crime, that the criminal will be detected and his good name restored. The author has handled this subject with consummate skill and ease that shows the true dramatic instinct. The love interest is all as absorbing. The comedy element is introduced in such a way, that it becomes relevant to the story, and the climaxes are worked out naturally and logically. "Human Hearts" will be seen at the Grand Opera House tonight.

State House Talk

Columbus, O., Oct. 14.—As a result of the disorganized condition of the penitentiary, it will not be surprising if there is a change in the management there soon. The escape of two prisoners in broad daylight Friday night under the nose of a guard, shows up conditions in the institution that are anything but complimentary to the administration. It is being freely predicted that Warden Jones will resign, and that some man of unquestioned ability and experience in handling criminals will be put at the head of the penitentiary. A total of 18 prisoners has escaped from the penitentiary under the administration of Warden Jones. The warden claims that there is a conspiracy on among some of the guards who are unfriendly to him, to put him in bad. Even if this is so, it does not speak well for the warden's management of affairs, showing an absence of harmony, discipline and system. A guard saw two men who escaped Friday, going over the wall, but he did not fire at them, giving as an excuse for not doing so that he feared he might hit someone outside. The board of administration may take a notion to do some slashing right and left at the penitentiary, as a result of these two escapes.

It has become known that plans are being made to consolidate the independent and Bell telephone systems of Columbus. The Morgan interests are said to be behind the move. Telephone service inspectors have been in the city during the past week, testing both lines and securing other information needed before the consummation of the deal. Before the merger can be effected, permission must be secured from the public service commission of Ohio. Such permission would not be given unless there was assurance that numerous, discipline and system. The board of administration may take a notion to do some slashing right and left at the penitentiary, as a result of these two escapes.

Attorney General Hogan is certainly not making a bid for the women's vote. At a Columbus Day banquet, he expressed the belief that Ohio would not stand for woman suffrage, which he was inclined to think is sheer nonsense. He said one of the southernmost signs of the times is that political lies are not strong enough to withhold the approval of citizens from a public official who does his duty. Since January 1, seven hundred

Judge Blair Has A Good Meeting

An enthusiastic dry meeting was held in the Dice building, on West Second street, Friday evening. Attorney George D. Scudder presided and opened the meeting with a few clean-cut, forceful remarks on the liquor situation.

Judge Blair said that the people of the West End had been wronged in public print to keep away from the meeting. If they wanted to avoid insult, he had not been in the habit of insulting people. He was not going to insult anybody. There are good men who are wet, and they are conscientious in their belief. "I am as earnest and determined," said the Judge, "in my purpose to protect the West in all of their political rights and privileges as I am the dry. I am for the enforcement of the law under all circumstances, and for all classes."

"I ask no one to stay away from a dry meeting. Everybody should inform himself and vote intelligently. Go hear the speakers for the wet."

"Isn't it strange that Chicago should become suddenly so interested in Portsmouth. For a century we have run on and Chicago never knew we were on the map until this wet and dry issue arose and Chicago's mammoth liquor trust was not getting its financial tribute from our city. Then they became interested and sent their great men down here as missionaries to persuade us to vote wet. And by way of a change, now comes an alleged preacher from the beer-soaked city of St. Louis. Why haven't the wets put up some of our own citizens to tell us of the direful consequences that have followed their voting out of the saloon? If there is anything to tell, they have men fully able and competent to tell it."

"The principles they advocate are destructive of every good moral and material. I want to talk to you."

"I want you to consider for a moment this dangerous sophistry as to personal liberty. When you join a labor union you are required to lay down every liberty that conflicts with its rules. One of the most eloquent speakers, in speaking of labor, said that he wanted for the workmen the old English law. That law was judicially interpreted, provided that workmen who combined for the purpose of securing an increase in wages were subject to conviction and condign punishment for conspiracy to injure trade and commerce. You couldn't unionize under the old English law. The liquor interests want those conditions restored. Dan Morgan says that's what he loves. That's what I shall fight."

"Mr. Wendle says he doesn't care for the loss of the drink, but of the right to drink. He says no man can deprive him of that. And no individual can. But suppose each man was his own judge of liberty. Society could not exist. Each labor union is built on unity, a lying together. You must give up many of your individual rights and be governed by the will of the union. And thus, you have the strength of the union behind you. Some of the strongest unions refuse membership to anyone engaged in the liquor traffic."

"The Judge read from the public records figures concerning unemployment. He said: 'Wages have increased and financial conditions are better all around. The liquor interests produce no wet city in the country with such a favorable record. Wages have increased over $200,000 per year, and this does not include the builders' trades or the destructive of every good moral and material. I want to talk to you. If you want more work and better wages, continue clear-headed and sober. Keep the saloons out of Portsmouth liquor is destructive to every interest of labor. The common goal of humanity is to be more considered than the selfish will of any individual. Hence, the greedy usurers of old were compelled to be satisfied with a reasonable per cent. The installment men who sold goods at an exorbitant price, and when they were nearly paid for, took them back again and kept all the payments, were compelled to refund a certain proportion. Society is more than the individual."

"The railroads were indifferent to the protection of their employees. In spite of all corporate assumptions of their right to conduct their own business, society steps in and compels the use of safety devices. And again, in spite of any man's personal right to contract, society, in the interests of the people and of the worker, says that the railroad shall not be employed over 16 hours continuously without an intermission of eight hours for rest. These are a few of the many cases illustrating the right and the power of society to advance the common interests by control of the individual. The principles advocated by the liquor interest would destroy every law enacted for the benefit of labor."

"I want you to attend the meetings on both sides. Investigate and vote intelligently."

Recovers Bicycle.
Lou Distel, a clerk at the Globe Clothing Store, has recovered a bicycle taken away Thursday night. It was found near Third and Market streets, Friday morning.

Redskin In Family.
While examining a hole in a subway undergarment a woman noticed her hands, which looked very red and angry. "If you'd throw away that yellow stuff and use Hewitt's Easy Task Laundry Soap as I do, the laundry troubles in two—save your clothes, and may I have your hands would feel. You know it's the original white, pure kind. Your grocer sells it."

Saved Daughter's Life

This Father Refused to Let His Daughter Die.

Here is a story with a moral that many parents might take to heart:

"My daughter was very pale, nervous, thin, and suffered with severe pain in her back, so that we took her out of school. Her flesh became blue and she could not retain her urine. I spent over $100 for medicines, but she grew worse. Finally I bought a bottle of Thompson's Barosma and she began to grow better right away. Five bottles of Thompson's Barosma made a complete cure, and today she is a perfectly healthy girl. Thompson's Barosma saved her life, for she was failing so fast that death was not far off."

Frank D. Meador, Pleasantville, Pa.

If you are troubled with backache, sideling, weakness in the back, or any liver or kidney trouble, then it's time for Thompson's Barosma.

Plays Piano For 27 Hours

Bethlehem, Pa., Oct. 14—By playing 27 hours 46 minutes 3 seconds, Harry A. Bennett today broke the world's record for long distance playing. Bennett did not remove either hand from the keys. Liquid nourishment was administered to him in abundance. The previous record was held by Charles Wright, of Battle Creek, Mich. Bennett just exceeding it by one minute and three seconds. Then he fell exhausted from the piano.

Elections To Be Fair

Columbus, O., Oct. 14—That fairness and impartiality is to be one of the chief features of the coming elections is shown by one of the minor changes in the post-ers enervating instructions to voters as to how they shall mark their ballots, etc. In former years the instructions provided that in the cases of blind voters, those unable to write or those unable to do so physically, they should be assisted by "2 election judges." The instructions for 1911 provide that in such cases "two election judges of different political parties shall assist the voter in marking his ballot." The change was ordered by Secretary of State Graves.

Rats Turned On the Gas

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 14—Rats turned on a gas cock in the kitchen stove and nearly suffocated Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Hein and their daughter, Charlotte, at Morris Cove, last night. Only the fact that the family slept in rooms some distance away, with their windows wide open, saved the Heims from death. They are in a serious condition today.

Notice To Voters

Clerk James Distel of the Election Board, announces that the ruling of Secretary of State Graves fixing 5:30 a. m. to 6:00 p. m. for the time of voting at the coming local option election applies to the townships only. In the city the polls will close at 5:30 standard time.

SHE HAD CONSTANT PAIN

Until Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Dewittville, N.Y.—"Before I started to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I suffered nearly all the time with headaches, backaches, and bearing down pains, and had a continuous pain in my left side. It made me sick if I tried to walk much, and my back was so weak that I was obliged to wear braces all the time. But now I do not have any of these troubles. I have a fine strong baby daughter now, which I did not have before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. A. A. GILES, Route 44, Dewittville, N.Y.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.

Where Danger Lies!

We want to warn the temperance people of Scioto County against over-confidence in this campaign. The situation at this time looks good for a dry victory but this can quickly be changed into defeat, if the good citizens become apathetic. Eternal vigilance and unceasing work is the price of victory.

You may wish for saloons to remain out of Scioto County but unless you work and keep everlastingly at it they will come back. You may go to public meetings and applaud the speakers but if you then go home and sit down with folded arms and content yourself with the thought that everything is allright and that you need not exert yourself you are likely to be disappointed when the votes are counted.

Scioto County will return a good, comfortable dry majority if every man and woman who is opposed to the saloon will get out on the firing line and stay there until the polls are closed, but unless there is united, systematic work on the part of all there is danger.

You are confronted by a foe that is well equipped for the fight. The liquor trust is resourceful as well as unscrupulous. It will resort to every scheme to win votes. It is always on the job. The wealth of the brewery and whisky combine of the country is back of the wet fight in Scioto County. If you underestimate the strength and adroitness of the enemy you may have a sorrowful awakening on the evening of election day.

Give your time and your energy to this dry campaign. You say your heart is in the cause, then put your brain, your hands, your whole being into this fight. If you do this you will sweep the county. If you, at this juncture, permit yourself to recline on flowery beds of ease your apathy may mean a wet victory.

The fight is on. Get into the game. Work for the manhood, the womanhood, the childhood and the homes of Portsmouth and Scioto County.

Making Motor Boat Trip To The Gulf

Capt. F. C. Gordon, president of the Gordon Propeller Company, of Cleveland, and his son Clyde arrived here Friday evening in a big motor boat, bound for the Gulf of Mexico.

Capt. Gordon is attempting a long, hard voyage to demonstrate the advantages of the Vervo engine of the jump spark ignition and the Gordon reversible propeller, manufactured by his company. He and son left Cleveland September 28, shipping their boat by rail to Zanesville, where it was launched in the Muskingum river. They are going down the Ohio and Mississippi into the Gulf, thence along the coast around the peninsula of Florida, and northward in the Atlantic ocean to the St. Lawrence river, across Lake Ontario, through the Welland canal and across Lake Erie back to Cleveland. Their boat is a scow, substantial craft. The captain spent Friday evening in company of local motor boat enthusiasts and left early Saturday for Cincinnati.

Disregard Curfew Law

Complaint was made to the police Friday night that boys at East Portsmouth were disregarding the Curfew by roaming the streets and making themselves generally obnoxious. Officer Lantz was put on their trail.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured. By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or ringing in the ears. If this condition is allowed to continue, it will result in permanent deafness. Deafness is the result, and when the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be restored. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness cured by our method. Send for circulars, free. J. C. CLEMENT & CO., Toledo, O. 2001 Broadway, N. Y. City. Wanted Dog Taken Away

A novel complaint came to the police from No. 41 East Front street, Friday evening. The family who had just vacated that house had neglected to remove their dog. The canine was in sole possession of the house when the new tenants prepared to move in. They wanted the police to put out the dog. Officer Willie Monk was detailed to undertake the task.

HER HAIR GREW

That's Why a Thankful Woman Recommends Parisian Sage.

Wurster Bros. will sell you a fifty cent bottle of PARISIAN SAGE and guarantee it to banish dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp, or money back. It's a delightful hair dressing that makes hair lustrous and fascinating.

"In the spring I was recovering from a severe case of erysipelas, which left me virtually bald on the front of my head and next to my ears. The hair kept coming out rapidly and nothing I used stopped my getting entirely bald, until I used two bottles of PARISIAN SAGE. This tonic made my hair start to grow in and in fact grew me a good, fair amount of hair, and it has entirely stopped my hair falling out."

It is with pleasure that I give a public recommendation to PARISIAN SAGE, which I know is a wonder." Mrs. T. H. Gleason, W. Pitt St., Bedford, Pa.

To the Members of the Lodges, Fraternal Societies, Labor Unions, Working Men, Mechanics, Manufacturers, Business Men and Professional Men of Portsmouth and Scioto County:

Sirs: I have read the statement in one local newspaper announced by the brewery and liquor interests of Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati and other liquor centers, through the so-called Business Men's Association that are representatives of the temporary forces had not answered their argument presented to our people through their Mr. W. H. Capt. Dan Morgan Smith and others.

I wish to say that I have carefully read the speeches of their representatives, and on Sunday night, October 13th, at 7:30 p. m., at the Billy Sunday Tabernacle at Portsmouth, Ohio, I propose to discuss the principles for which they are contending as announced by their representatives in our city and county.

If the principles for which they stand as announced by their representatives are ever adopted by our government it will destroy and overthrow not only the government itself, but every law that protects and safeguards labor, laboring men, the home and society. They are antagonistic to the principles of every lodge, fraternal society, and labor union. The principles for which they stand are the most dangerous principles ever proclaimed and advocated in a land of free men.

I am glad to meet the issue as proposed by their Mr. Windle. I shall be glad to have all the citizenship of Portsmouth and Scioto County who are interested in having a fair investigation and be fully advised as to the soundness of the doctrine proposed by this liquor interest, to hear me on that occasion.

I am truly,

H. W. FULLER RALLY DAY AT TRINITY CHURCH IS DEAD

H. W. Fuller, traffic manager of the C. & O. railway, died at his home in Washington, D. C., Thursday. Though his health had not been the best for some time, and a tremendous attendance is at no time was it almost considered career. Mr. Fuller began his railroad career as a sleeping car attendant in 1866. His service with the C. & O. dates from 1881, when he became general passenger agent. On June 13, 1907, he was made passenger traffic manager.

Tomorrow is rally day at the Trinity Sunday School and also at the church services. Special efforts have been made by every class and individual in the school, and a tremendous attendance is looked for. The slogan is "1,500". Trinity Sunday School has a reputation for doing things and we are very much surprised if the party who has promised to come and also his own name, tears off the coupon and tucks it in to the secretary, keeping the stub as a receipt. Yes, quite business like, but sure to win a large attendance. In order to make a good thing better, Rev. Hartinger is endeavoring to make the Sunday School rally carry over into the church services, a good idea, and the people will no doubt give him a large audience at the morning services.

YOU CAN HAVE HEALTHY HAIR

What a pity it is to observe so many people with thin and faded hair and then realize that the most of these people might have a fine, healthy head of hair if they would but use the simple "sage tea" of our grandmothers, combined with other ingredients for restoring and preserving the hair. No one young or old, need have gray hair, weak, thin or falling hair, dandruff or any trouble of the sort, if they would but use Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. On the contrary, it is possible to have healthy, vigorous hair, of perfect color, by a few applications of this remarkable preparation.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy quickly removes dandruff, leaves the scalp clean and healthy, promotes the growth of the hair and restores the natural color of the hair which has become faded or gray. It is a clean, wholesome dressing, which may be used at any time and with perfect safety. Don't neglect your hair. Start today with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

Gun User Is Out Under $100 Bond

George Bumgardner, the young blacksmith who sought to avenge alleged wrongs inflicted upon his family by attempting to shoot his foster brother, Milford Moore, was released on bond Friday evening.

Bumgardner's brother, John Bumgardner, put up a cash bond of $100, which was the amount fixed by Mayor Sweeney, and the boy accompanied his father home. The latter had remained at the city prison from the time his boy was locked up until he was released.

Moore was located by the police about dusk and coming to headquarters, swore to an affidavit, charging Bumgardner with shooting with intent to wound. He denied that he had given any provocation for the shooting. He said he and the young man had never had any trouble of any character, and when Bumgardner declared with a laugh, "I'm going to shoot your d—d toe off," he thought he was merely joking. An instant later Bumgardner began firing, and Moore then first realized that the other was in earnest. The arresting officers say that the gunner was slightly under the influence of liquor, and that this fact perhaps in a measure accounted for the shooting.

When Bumgardner's case was called in police court Saturday morning Moore was conspicuous in his absence. The defendant himself was without counsel. When arraigned he acknowledged his guilt of shooting firearms. He was bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $100 and promptly gave a cash bond. The boy's mother, who skipped out as soon as the son took her of the shooting, is still absconding herself from home save to drop in at intervals to attend the baby of a daughter-in-law.

SOCIALIST COLUMN

BY ROBT DODGE.

The present system of society compels woman to become man's competitor in industrial affairs. She, who by following natural instinct and law would become his sweet companion for life, his loving, trustful friend, the mother of his children, the keeper of his home is forced to compete with him in the industrial plants of the country in order to secure the means of life.

She performs her part in this great life tragedy, not because she wants to, but because man has forced her to do so. How often we hear the words, "I wish I were a man!" from the lips of women engaged in the struggle for a livelihood. She has discovered as man's competitor in the fields of industry that the more she is a woman the less she is able to compete with man, hence she naturally wishes she were a man.

Today men and women stand on a plane of almost economic equality, each competing with the other in almost every line of human effort, with a system of education, not designed for both to fit each for their natural sphere in life, but for men only and fitting both for the work that men have been doing in the ages past and in which the woman is now forced by training and circumstances over which she has no control to adapt herself.

Socialists contend that so long as the present competitive system of wage labor lasts the tendency to unsex the woman will increase, but co-operation being the true and natural relation of the sexes, a co-operative system will correct the evil.

In a society in which woman is compelled to become man's economic competitor, womanhood becomes a handicap, and she is bound to wish she were a man, and the less she will want to take her natural place as a woman, a mother. Another fact which helps to this result is that often in taking employment she is paid a salary inadequate to her needs, and it often happens that her needs and low wages, like grappling irons, draw from her her most priceless treasure, her virtue. Under present day society, men and women are economic enemies and the tendency is to become personally antagonistic. But co-operation being the natural relation of the sexes, Socialists contend that it is the duty of every Christian to help establish a system in which the natural unity of the sexes can assert itself, wherein the woman will not be an economic dependent nor a competitor with man, but each of equal economic and social importance in their respective spheres, co-operating in all things, as well as with all things. And that will be Socialism.

Boy Becomes Bootlegger

Bull Runs Amuck On Busy Broadway

New York, Oct. 14—A huge, dehorned bull ran wild in Broadway today, bowled over a taxicab driven by John Mason, and a milk wagon, and injured several men, including Policeman Cleary who tried to stop it, before it was finally cornered and killed at 33rd street and Seventh avenue. When the animal finally fell dying to the street, more than 70 bullets fired by pursuing policemen were in its body. Over 100 shots were fired altogether, while men and women in taxicabs, touring cars and other vehicles took part in the chase. The bull escaped from the stock yards at 59th street and the North river. After the excitement was all over a short, fat man carrying a lasso, waddled down Broadway inquiring for a stray bull. "It escaped from me at the stock yards," he said.

DR. ALBERT F. SNELL

President of the Snell Psycho Medical Institute and Sanitarium of Cincinnati, Ohio. Will be in Portsmouth, Ohio, at the

Washington Hotel

ONE DAY ONLY
Wednesday, October 18th, 1911

Hours 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.
Consultation Free.

The Methods used by us are the latest and only such as have been approved by the leading Specialists of the World.

When you place your case in our hands you do so with the assurance that we will cure you where others have failed to even benefit you. We will cure you quicker than other specialists for the reason that with our intensive practice we are able to do the right thing at the right moment. We say in those who have taken other treatment without benefit and to those who have neglected themselves until their condition has become chronic, with us at once, and you will receive decided benefits and a cure of your trouble.

To those who are feeling the first symptoms of their trouble—Not sick but worn out—lack energy and have a feeling that they do not have the ambition they used to have we say it is your duty to yourself to consult us at once and find out just what is the matter. We will make a thorough examination of your case and tell you just what is needed for you to do.

Don't waste time and money in experimenting—you can't afford to treat with anyone but the best for if you do you will pay out more money in the end without receiving anything in return than it would have cost you to get the best treatment in the beginning. Nor can you afford to neglect yourself—to let your trouble run along without attention—for just as sure as you do you will find that your trouble will become chronic and will require much more time to get rid of it. "Take time by the forelock" and be cured at once. You don't want to burden your whole life by neglecting yourself now. Call and find out just where and how you stand.

Superior Treatment will cure you. Interior won't. Which do you want? Address all communication to Dr. Albert F. Snell, 16 Garfield Place, Cincinnati, O.

Our specialty is treatment of the Head, Lungs, Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Bowels or Sexual Troubles and women and men with nervous prostration, who are discouraged and dependent cured, no matter how many doctors have given you up; Nervousness, Lost Vitality, no matter what the cause, Varicose Enlargement, Blood Poison, Piles, Cancer and all lingering Chronic Diseases. Call the success we have and the large number of patients we are discharging.

Will Use Hatchet

Laporte, Ind., Oct. 14—Fifty W. C. T. U. women of Hobart, Ind., this morning served notice on the ten saloon keepers of the town that if they did not remove the screens from their doors and pull up the window blinds they would invade their places of business with hatchets.

Miss Alta Eason left today for Jackson, where she will remain over Sunday visiting with friends, going on from there to Columbus, her new home.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensibly modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. This local physician is prone to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure "on sight" the privacy of your own home. Life "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases. It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't tangle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.—let the advice received and be well.

YOUR MONEY BACK

whether you buy from one of our dealers or direct from us, if the Menz "Ease" isn't the easiest, most comfortable, everyday work shoe you ever put on.

We are manufacturers for the retail dealer, but if you can't buy the Menz "Ease" in your town we will fill your order direct from our factory at the regular retail price, delivery charges paid, and if they are not as soft, easy and comfortable as we claim, do not wear them but return immediately and we will send your money back and pay return express charges.

Menz "Ease"

Absolutely no leather made for all sorts of everyday work in all sorts of weather and for comfort and service.

We are exclusively an upper leather shoe can't find in any other shoe made—our own special Menz "Ease" Process of Tanning. It's the toughest, strongest, most pliable upper leather tanned. Most better we would not have thousands of testimonials, and receive them every day, that say Menz "Ease" shoes wear out three years, that the upper outlasts 3 in 6 pairs of any, and that they are always soft and easy on the feet, because neither heat, water nor winter ever harden it.

We will send you a sample of this wonderful leather, also enough unconditioned testimonials to prove every claim we make, and then tell you if you can buy Menz "Ease" shoes in your town, if you ask for CATALOG H—FREE.

A FINE COMPLIMENT.

That was a great compliment that General Jacob Smith paid Mayor Searey at the veterans' banquet, Wednesday evening. Some people may not like it, but the General will not care anything for that. He has seen a long and gallant service and he early learned never to be afraid of the enemy, but drive straight ahead. Whatever his cause and his thought that he stands unwaveringly by and gives word to. No expediency of minding action or speech ever comes to him. That which he feels called to do and speak he does and gives voice to.

OUR DISAPPOINTED CONTRIBUTORS.

In times of stress like these most of all feel we have a message or can say something better than it has ever been said before. Realizing this, The Times at the inception of the local option campaign made it a rule it would publish nothing on either side, that was not contributed by the campaign committees or was purely a matter of current news interest. Right now we are flustering ourselves it was a particularly wise and fortunate resolve. The contributions came freely flowing in. Some were good, some were indifferent and some were bad. Had we undertaken to publish them all there would, indeed, have been mighty little room in The Times for news and by this time there would be some able editors with their heads knocked off or in jail. We hope our valued contributors understand and appreciate the situation, more especially those who sent in articles without the stamp of pen or pencil to indicate authorship. They ought to know, that if they are averse to letting the paper know their identity, showing a lack of confidence in it, the wary paper will also be averse to using the communications.

MAKING PROGRESS.

That man Jones is on the move for fair. But may be you do not know Jones, at least this particular exotic in the florissant garden of politics. Well, he hails from Illinois; not, that isn't right either since he is all there and no where else. So let us say he hails over the Suck-er state instead of from. His full name is Walter Considine Jones, but without the hyphen mind you. He is a Republican candidate for governor, one among a half dozen, but he is different, entirely different from the others. He's a progressive and that goes in more ways than one. Nothing can stop, nor limit his progress. Mr. Jones whizzes into town in an auto, going sixty miles an hour. As it pulls up at the curb, he pumps himself in the arms of "leading politicians," who show they are by leading him off to the court house, where he is introduced to and shakes hands with all the county officers. Meantime the chauffeur spreads across the buzz wagon a banner announcing Jones, a handy man asserts literature and a musician tunes up a French horn and lets her go. That horn is a wonder. It has four pipes and three valves and its calls loose a voice like the crack of doom. It jars the sleepy village as an earthquake, shakes the corner loafer off the drygoods box, the dozing merchant off his chair and sets everybody to running to see what's up. They find it is Jones—he is up in his auto and on and off with his progressive harangue. And Jones, as a local enthusiast exultantly declares, is not the garden variety of progressive, he's a hot house variety. He's in favor of the people electing anything from dog pounder down to president, United States senator, ay, even down to governor, provided it be Jones. He's for the initiative, the referendum, the recall, short ballot, conservation, corrupt practices act and trial marriage with any other new wrinkle in economics that anybody may have to suggest. We have said Jones travels by auto. That is hardly a straight steer. It would be more accurate to say he travels by several autos. At last accounts he had four sticking in the black Illinois mud, but he was still progressing—there's a new auto made every minute and Jones means to keep on his "weavin'" way if he has to buy the whole supply. We shall all be interested over here to know what progress he makes when it comes to a Republican primary, but we'll have a long wait as the count will not be made until next spring. Meantime we'll hold to the hope that Jones is still progressing.

THE RIGHT CALIBRE.

John A. Poland is a candidate for constitutional delegate in Ross county. Were all the candidates of his calibre the people would need have no concern as to the outcome of a body, which is to formulate and propose a basic law for the state of Ohio. Mr. Poland is a young man of high character, much native ability and wide attainment in scholarship and the law. He has all the requirements to fit him for a service that is of such vital importance and further that he has both the means and the inclination to give the great time and arduous work that service will require if it is to be well done.

AFTER LIGHTS ACROSS RIVER

CASE BEING HEARD

Petitions were put into circulation Saturday with a view to securing electric light service for Fallerton and South Portsmouth. It is hoped to secure enough signers to induce the Portsmouth street railway company to furnish the necessary power and run a line across the river. The U. & O. railway is supporting the movement as it is anxious to equip its properties with electric light. It is hoped to have all homes in the villages lighted and later an effort will be made to secure street lights.

FROM BESS TO BOB

BY M.F.

DEAR BOB—
I remember that adorable Mrs. Maroush. I told you about it in one of my letters. She is a very nice and a more good looking than ever—the most gorgeous clothes—and always has that Charlie Brighton hanging around.

I don't like him a bit, but I must admit that he adds a great deal to a woman's appearance. He knows just how to follow and carry coats, and things, and can always find anything you want.

Mrs. Maroush doesn't go to bathing at all, but she has the most becoming bath-dress I've ever seen, and the last evening she came with her to keep her hair from getting wet. She's pale like a ghost and was wonderfully expressive. She did have a pink one, but one of the bathing men dropped it in a stall of the bathroom, and it was ruined. She complained about it, but, as she says, they don't care how they treat your things at these places.

Oh, Bob, do you remember Fuzz-buzz? She is just as beautiful as ever. She wasn't looking very well that day when I brought her to tea with us last winter. She didn't say a word about it, but she was with us. Her hair has grown much more silky, and Ethel has found that a certain shade of lavender suits her better than anything else.

She does bite people, but it's her only fault. She simply adores lemons—she has a jar of lemons, and she says that if it has been slightly frozen—she has a perfect horror of a woman who has a jar of lemons. She says, "I don't like them, but I like what you are doing, and I like to see you manage to amuse yourself. I don't like them, but I like what you are doing, and I like to see you manage to amuse yourself."

She doesn't like them, but I like what you are doing, and I like to see you manage to amuse yourself. I don't like them, but I like what you are doing, and I like to see you manage to amuse yourself.

She doesn't like them, but I like what you are doing, and I like to see you manage to amuse yourself. I don't like them, but I like what you are doing, and I like to see you manage to amuse yourself.

She doesn't like them, but I like what you are doing, and I like to see you manage to amuse yourself. I don't like them, but I like what you are doing, and I like to see you manage to amuse yourself.

The Innocent Bystander

Kings Not What They Used To Be In the Good Old Days of Yore.

"Other kings meet in for the poisoner of food stuffs, there being no Dr. Willy then. Any time things were dull a king could do a little plain or fancy business, and be present at a head chopping. Rescuing maidens from dragons, or looking them up in same, it didn't matter, were favorite diversions, also. When time passed a king could always call in the doctor and, after kicking the doctor right about the neck, order him to take a strong dose of codney out of his brainless head."

"Can a king do anything like that now? No. All he can do is to dedicate charity houses, buy corner stones, be present at some shooting in Scotland and kick-everybody, have a bear led up for him to shoot or have his picture taken being crowned. He's fit for the illustrated weeklies, which sometimes give him two pages. Obsolete kings could have a flock of crows, but the best one gets now is one or two pages—and in a magazine. And that's all he can do."

"I wouldn't care to be a king," asserted the Regular Fellow.

"Don't give the matter another moment's worry," assured the Innocent Bystander.
